Mayor's Opponents Win Fight to Keep Open Sunday Here

Magistrate Jay Rules Lord's Day Act Does Not Apply to Store Prosecutions; Act Provides Preference to Provincial Legislation.

Because he holds that the Provincial Shops Regulation Act and amendments have precedence over the Lord's Day Act of the Dominion, Magistrate Jay in the city police court this morning dismissed informations in the test cases brought under the Lord's Day Act against Roy McPhee, tobacconist and newsagent; John Harris, confectioner, and Albert Johnson, shoeshiner.

The Judgment.

The judgment was as follows:

"The three defendants are separately charged that on the 7th day of May, 1922, at the city of Victoria, they did unlawfully carry on their ordinary calling on the Lord's Day, viz., Roy McPhee, that of a tobacconist and newspaper vendor; John Harris, the business of selling fruit, confectionery and tobacco; and Albert Johnson, the business of shining shoes.

"Evidence was given that the defendants upon the day in question were carrying on their business. Section 5 of the Lord's Day Act provides in part—

"It shall not be lawful for any person on the Lord's Day, except as herein provided, or in any Provincial Act or Law now or hereafter in force, to carry on or transact any business of his ordinary calling on that day."

Important Decisions.

"In the case of Oulmet v. Bazin, 46 S. C. Reports, Davies, J., p. 514, says: "My construction of the Federal Act is that it was an attempt to enact generally prohibitive legislation with regard to the proper observance of Sunday or the Lord's Day for the whole of Canada. But that, recognizing the different circumstances, habits, customs and religious beliefs which prevailed in several provinces of the Dominion, Parliament determined to delegate to each Provincial Legislature the power to decide that any Act or thing prohibited by the Dominion Act might be exempted from the operation of such Act and permitted to be done by provincial legislation."

TOLL OF STORM SEVENTY LIVES

New York Death List Probably That High

Ferris Wheel Tragedy Is Being Investigated

New York, June 13.—The death list resulting from the cyclonic storm that swished and whirled its way through New York and New Jersey Sunday evening continues to grow. The known dead now total forty-five, with sixteen other persons reported missing.

The police launched continued to grapple to-day for bodies of those still missing after the storm left Long Island Sound strewn with wreckage and capsized boats. At least forty visitors to City Island were drowned in the disaster, and the police are convinced that the death list will reach as high as seventy. It will be days before the total loss of life will be known.

The Bronx grand jury has started an investigation of the wreck of the Ferris wheel at Clason's Point, in which seven were killed and forty other visitors seriously injured. Officials will examine the wreckage to see if the huge device was originally constructed along safe lines. The owner, who was arrested after the tragedy, will face the grand jury to-day.

Property Loss.
The property damage resulting from the twisting winds runs into millions. Electric light and power lines were destroyed for miles, as the poles bearing the cables snapped after the blast. The loss from plate glass is only exceeded by the Black Tom explosion, according to insurance companies covering such risks.

There are six candidates for the University seats, two independent having entered the field against the four designated on the Sinn Féin-Catholic panel. Of the panel candidates, Professors Macneil and Hays support the treaty and Professor Stockley and Dr. Adams oppose it. Both the independent Professors McGinnis and Conway favor the treaty.

IRISH AGREEMENT STATEMENT AWAITED

Collins Confers With Churchill in London

Announcement in the British Commons on Thursday

London, June 13.—The calmness with which both Parliament and press received the postponement until Thursday of Colonial Secretary Churchill's statement on the Irish situation is taken as an indication of general confidence that after the successive crises practically all difficulties have been smoothed away and the draft of the Irish constitution has been brought into harmony with the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

The arrival of Michael Collins in London to-day was expected to mark the sealing of a final understanding. His presence is necessary in such an event as he is the head of the Free State Provisional Government. Arthur Griffith, who has been conducting the negotiations here, being merely president of the Dail Eireann and not empowered to complete an agreement.

Upon his arrival Mr. Collins declined to discuss the situation or to express an opinion other than it was "very hopeful."

Conferred with Churchill.
Mr. Collins had an hour's conversation with Mr. Churchill at the Colonial Office this morning. The latter afterward went to a Cabinet meeting at which Premier Lloyd George presided.

Mr. Collins would not talk regarding what passed between him and Mr. Churchill, but said he would return and continue the negotiations. From this the deduction was drawn that Mr. Churchill would not make his full statement in the House of Commons on the progress of the negotiations until Thursday.

The Central Kalphate Committee has adopted a resolution declaring civil disobedience unavoidable, "in view of the hostile attitude of the British Cabinet towards the Kalphate question and the continuous repressive policy of the Government in India."

The committee, however, endorsed the resolution of the recent All-India Congress postponing its aggressive measures until August 15. Meanwhile a sub-committee has been appointed to co-operate with the Congress sub-committee which is touring India gathering data concerning the availability of again starting civil disobedience.

Larger Attendance Marks Good Roads Meeting To-day

Eighteen Thousand Miles of Main Roads Claim Attention in Canada, Says Dominion Highways Commissioner.

The second day of the Canadian Good Roads Convention opened here to-day with a considerably increased number of delegates in attendance. There are sixty-five delegates who have come west to attend the meeting from points east of Winnipeg, and that this large number should have traveled so many miles to participate in the discussion of good road problems is taken by association officials as a very healthy sign. In addition to this the West is very generously represented.

Three Addresses.
J. A. Duchastel, of Outremont, P. Q., presided at this morning's session and addresses were given by Germain F. Graham, district engineer of the Asphalt Association, Albany, New York, on "Asphalt and Its Use in Highway Construction," by A. W. Campbell, Chief Commissioner of Highways, Dominion Government, Ottawa, and by J. R. Robertson, Deputy Minister of Public Works, Alberta, who spoke on "How to Improve Earth, Clay and Sand Roads."

Mr. Graham's address was a highly technical nature and was illustrated by lantern slides. His lecture was calculated to show the value of the asphalt pavement in all countries and all climates. The illustrations were of considerable interest in demonstrating methods of construction, treatment of faults and maintenance.

Road Construction.
Mr. Robertson's address on road construction in Alberta was given under two heads: first, road improvement over the prairie and road building in the timbered country. The Province was compelled to use materials at hand for road construction. The Government owns its own grad- ing tractors and the continuous use of the for the use of the tractors. The cost of prairie roads runs about $200 per mile and in the timbered country the cost of grubbing runs between $10 and $50 an acre, the timber being small. Roads in timbered country run $600 and $1,000 a mile. Alberta has approximately 15,800 miles of continuous graded roads.

Lucknow, British India, June 13.—Quereshi, who succeeded Mohandas Gandhi as editor of "Young India," has been arrested on a charge of publishing seditious articles.

The Central Kalphate Committee has adopted a resolution declaring civil disobedience unavoidable, "in view of the hostile attitude of the British Cabinet towards the Kalphate question and the continuous repressive policy of the Government in India."

Meanwhile a sub-committee has been appointed to co-operate with the Congress sub-committee which is touring India gathering data concerning the availability of again starting civil disobedience.

URGES RATES BE SET BY BOARD

Mr. McGeer Addresses Commons Freight Rate Committee

Speaks for Province of British Columbia

Ottawa, June 13.—G. C. McGeer, K. C., who appeared for British Columbia before the Commons Committee on Railway Transportation Cost and Freight Rates yesterday, opposed both the railways' proposal of reduced rates on certain basic commodities and a return to the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement.

"We say," said Mr. McGeer, "that the Railway Commission should be left to fix the rates without restriction."

"If you suspend the Crow's Nest Agreement," he added, "it will be making two bites of a cherry."

"What I have come to think after experience in this matter," he remarked in regard to the railway claim that railway costs could not be segregated, "is that you can prove anything you like by railway statistics. If they are favorable to the railways you get them, if they are not you don't get them. If you do they don't mean anything (laughter)."

"It is a safe bet," he said in conclusion, "that the railways will not give as much voluntarily as the Railway Commission will be prepared to order through the coming year."

He criticized the railway list of basic commodities because it did not include apples.

Charged to Deficit.
A. B. Hudson, member for Winnipeg South, questioned D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways. He pursued the history of the Canadian Northern from its inception. Mr. Hanna stated that the Canadian Northern had an annual surplus over fixed charges from 1896 to 1914.

LOWER ELECTRICAL RATES SOUGHT HERE

City Moves to Have Scale Cut Down to Vancouver Level

Ask Drastic Cut in Penalty on Delinquent Tax Payments

Efforts to have electrical power and lighting rates here reduced to the level of the Vancouver rates will be made by the Civic Legislative Committee immediately, it was announced at the City Hall to-day.

The Committee, having gone into the rate question in a rough way, will start negotiations with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in an effort to have the 7-cent rate here substantially reduced. The Committee has not yet secured details of the Vancouver rates, but it is known that they are considerably below those in force here. Further information on the whole rate question will be secured during the next few days before another meeting of the committee.

Drastic changes in many departments of the city's business are under consideration by the Legislative Committee which has been asked by the City Council to shape a broad legislative programme to be laid before the Provincial Legislature when it meets in the Fall. The most important decision reached by the committee so far is to ask the Legislature to reduce the penalty upon delinquent City tax payments from 8 per cent to 2 per cent, for the first month of delinquency with an additional 1 per cent for every following month until arrears are fully paid.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ON THE TRUE CASE

Short to Tell British Commons About Murderer

Denies Influence Exerted for Reprieve Given

London, June 13.—Home Secretary Short's statement in the House of Commons to-day concerning the reprieve of Major Ronald True, convicted slayer of Gertrude Yates, is expected to follow the lines of an interview which he granted to The Times on his return to London last night.

There have been intimations that True was declared an insane criminal and thus saved from the gallows because his mother was the wife of a personage high in British public life. Not Approached.

Secretary Short in The Times interview said: "I don't know who True is, or who are his relations. I was not approached by any of his relations and I make no statement and will not inquire to-morrow whether any such communications were received at the Home Office, but I am personally unaware of any."

"I am bound by the law, which says that no insane person shall be hanged."

Mr. Short will meet much hostility in the Commons.

To Confer.
According to The Daily Mail, Premier Lloyd George has asked Mr. Short to confer with him to-day on the subject of his statement and from this the newspaper infers that the Secretary's action is embarrassing the Government.

BERLIN CABINET WILL DISCUSS REPARATIONS

Berlin, June 13.—Chancellor Wirth and the principal members of his cabinet, who have returned to Berlin from a week's holiday in various sections of Germany, are preparing for the parliamentary fight which is certain to grow out of the failure of the loan negotiations in Paris and the refusal of this to Germany's acceptance of the Reparations Commission's terms in the note of May 28.

The Cabinet will begin its survey of the situation to-morrow.

NO OBSERVER AT LUSITANIA

Germans Make No Request Regarding Raising

Berlin, June 13.—The German Government has decided not to request that there be a neutral observer present at the raising of the steamship Lusitania in order to determine whether the ship bore a military character when she was torpedoed.

The Berlin newspapers recently have suggested that a neutral be appointed as an observer should the hulk be raised.

The Government holds that it is not privileged to request the presence of a neutral observer, as it is to be made by a private company.

CATTLE EMBARGO DISCUSSION IN LONDON SOON

London, June 13.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Replying to questions in the House of Commons last night, Austin Chamberlain, Government Leader, said he would endeavor to find an opportunity for the discussion of the embargo on Canadian cattle between the committee and report stage of the finance bill. According to present arrangements this can not be made for two weeks yet.

Change Nomination Days.
Another change which the committee will recommend is that nominations for civic office take place on the second Thursday in December and elections on the third Thursday.

The present system of having polling on Wednesday interferes with arrangements at the Public Market, the committee has been informed by market officials.

The Committee has endorsed Chief Sanitary Inspector Lamberton's plan for making a charge for the inspection of animal carcasses to be used as food. Legislation to allow the city to levy such a charge is expected in the Fall but the amount of the charge has yet to be fixed.

Cut Building Permits.
In an effort to assist small building operations the committee has agreed to recommend that no charge for building licenses be made on jobs costing less than $1,000.

The present system of handing over half of the city's share of liquor profits over to the Provincial Government has been considered by the committee. As Mayor Marchant has been pressing for the abolition of this system the Committee has decided to leave the matter in his hands.

Clearhouse to Help.
J. B. Clearhouse, one of Victoria's members in the Legislature, has offered to assist the committee in getting its proposals approved by the Legislature. Mr. Clearhouse will be asked to attend a meeting of the committee June 19 to discuss these matters.

"ARMY" ADVISED NOT TO MARCH

Federal Labor Minister Wires Toronto Unemployed

Work Available in Toronto for Veterans

Ottawa, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—The Minister of Labor yesterday sent the following telegram to "General" Riley, of the Toronto unemployed "army":

"Your telegram to the Premier of date received and read to me. Advice received from Toronto office of employment service indicates that there is work available for some 500 or 600 able-bodied men and women, a considerable number of whom with you marched from Toronto to Ottawa could fill the requirements necessary to secure such work. Advice before me indicates that the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment at Toronto had offered to have the men with you examined, and to endeavor to look after those who are not fit to work, but that the men with you had refused to be examined or to give their names and regimental numbers. You will surely agree that men who can be placed in employment can hardly be considered as unemployed men deserving of special consideration because they will not accept employment or because they refuse to submit to an examination. It will answer no useful purpose for you and your associates to begin another hike to Ottawa. Will you please convey this information to the men with you, and to the extent of submitting to an examination, and to starting your physically fit unemployed associates to work and in suggesting to those who are physically unfit to work the necessity of submitting to an examination that will clearly indicate such condition."

"JAMES MURDOCK" (Sd.)

A dispatch from Toronto last night said "General" Riley's "army" had marched to a point twelve miles east of Toronto, but would return to the city, a telegram having been received from the Federal Minister of Labor.

Commons to Vote on Changed Budget Proposals To-night

Minimum Probable Majority Mentioned By Liberal Members In Informal Discussions To-day Is Ten; Division About Midnight.

Ottawa, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—The stage is set for a vote to-night on the modified budget. There was at first some thought that the changes announced by the Minister of Finance in the late hours of yesterday might give rise to further debate; but the general feeling of members, with the eighty or so speeches already delivered, is that the budget discussion has already gone sufficiently far and that the vote should come to-night.

Further debate on the budget will, however, probably occupy the greater part of to-day's sitting, Hon. A. K. Maclean being scheduled to open the speech-making.

The changes made in the budget and their effect on to-night's vote are the subject of wide comment. There are features in the changes which will be welcomed by the Progressives, such for instance as the modifications in the tax on automobiles and the addition of fertilizers to the free list as far as the sales tax is concerned. Others, such as the change in the regulations regarding currency and the limitation placed on the stamp tax on cheques and money orders, probably will be received by the Conservatives with approval, but there is still doubt expressed if the changes made will be sufficient to induce either Progressives or Conservatives to vote as a body with the Government on the main budget motion. The impression prevails, however, that the Government will get sufficient individual support from the Opposition side of the House, coupled probably with abstentions, to secure a safe majority for its financial proposals. Liberals talk of a minimum Government majority of about thirty.

MORE AGGRESSIVE CHURCH POLICY

Recommendation by Presbyterian Assembly Committee

Presbyterian Church Association Issues Statement

Winnipeg, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—Rev. Dr. D. M. Ramsay, of Toronto, presented the report of the Educational Committee at the opening of the morning session of the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day. It urged an aggressive policy among new Canadians, particularly in the prairie provinces.

Theological students in training at Presbyterian colleges in the West and this summer numbered 169, Dr. Ramsay said. The church was still under the influence of war years in this respect, but the enrollment of students was increasing.

Colleges.
The Montreal Presbyterian College was still co-operating with the Anglican, Methodist and Congregational colleges, he reported, and Manitoba colleges continued to cooperate with the Methodist College, but in Saskatchewan there was no co-operation with the Anglican College, which was not training theological students this year.

The report urged that the Presbyterian Church Union Committee continue and increase its educational co-operation with the other negotiating churches.

A Problem.
Dr. Walter C. Murray, moving the adoption of the report, said the college question had been difficult for the past six years, and mentioning the college question, he said to carry on until things had reached a settled basis. With the adoption of church union the existing fifteen or sixteen colleges would decrease to eight and the college problem would disappear. If union were rejected other plans would have to be adopted.

Sunday Schools.
The report of the Board of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies showed advance along many lines and was marked by a spirit of optimism. The church has an imposing army under its care of nearly 350,000 Sunday School officers, and more than 1,000,000 members in 4,000 young people's organizations.

A foreign missionary on furlough was asked what was the greatest change he noticed in the home church since his last visit to Canada. "Undoubtedly, the increased and more intelligent interest taken in the work of religious education throughout the whole church," he said.

Among the forward steps is the increased emphasis being placed on Departmental Sunday Schools, which are being started in many places. Sunday School buildings, this method provides for a graded departmental work that is based on modern pedagogy.

Increasing Success.
The report pointed out that co-operation in interdenominational Sunday School work is also a growing success, heading up in the Religious Education Council of Canada, with branches in every province and in many cities. Nearly all of the Protestant denominations and the Y. M. C. A. are partners in this great get-together undertaking for the Sunday school. Its programme also includes scores of Summer camps and training schools that are miniature short term colleges for training in leadership.

Association Met.
A meeting of the Presbyterian Church Association, which is made up of Presbyterians who desire under present conditions to continue the Presbyterian Church in Canada as it is, was held to-day.

TO RECEIVE FINES.
Ottawa, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—A clause of a bill to amend the Criminal Code considered in the House last night provides that in the Province of Ontario fines and recognizances shall go to the municipalities where these municipalities bear the cost of administering the law. This was passed and progress was reported on the bill.

Unjust Freight Rates Threaten Second Ireland in Canada, Oliver Warns

Unjust, discriminatory railway freight rates are splitting Canada into three antagonistic sections, striking at the very root of Confederation and sowing the seeds of a second Irish problem in this Dominion, Hon. John Oliver, Premier and Minister of Railways, declared in an impassioned address to the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon this afternoon.

"The Fathers of Confederation were guided, inspired by the ideal of a united Canada—a great nation—but what is the condition today?" the Premier demanded. "You have two lines north from the Great Lakes to Hudson's Bay and another at the Rockies marked by differential freight rates. Is that your idea of a united Canada? With British Columbia fighting singly for its life, standing alone as one province in nine, with the three prairie provinces again standing alone under their freight rates, fighting for their lives, and with Eastern Canada, with the dominating voice in Parliament, this is creating antagonistic divisions which are undermining Confederation. Surely you see that there is something radically wrong! There is a feeling in the West that we are not receiving justice at the hands of the Dominion of Canada.

Weakening of Constitution.

"What caused the present situation in Ireland?" the Premier asked. "It was a rankling feeling of injustice in the minds of the people from one generation to another. I want to tell you that in Canada to-day the seeds of division have been sown and the crop is growing on the ground of differential treatment to the different sections of Canada. And the Parliament of Canada has the power to heal those cracks in our confederation if it wants to use them. You sing our anthem 'O Canada!' Do you realize how necessary it is to stand on guard for Canada to-day? To stand on guard against the weakening of our constitution. If we truly stand on guard for Canada let us set our faces like flint against the injustices which are governing us to-day."

Statistical Proof.

Mr. Oliver quoted voluminous figures to show how British Columbia is subjected to rates out of all proportion to the rates in force in the rest of Canada. He explained that eastern Canada to the Great Lakes is governed by one scale, the prairies by another and British Columbia by a third. As an example of the rate discrimination suffered by British Columbia he pointed out that rates on flour shipped westward through British Columbia are from 44 to 148 per cent. higher than the rates on flour shipped eastward to Port William. British Columbia flour suffered from rates from 50 to 200 per cent. higher than eastern flour, and British Columbia road rates from 50 to 100 per cent. on sugar the rate east from Vancouver was from 40 to 75 per cent. higher than the rate from Montreal. The effect of this discrimination, the Premier declared, was increased living costs and the stifling of British Columbia's business.

Change of Situation.

The Premier then told of his fight before the Ottawa Parliamentary committee on freight rates against this discrimination and explained in detail the present dispute over the restoration of the "Crown's Nest" Pass Agreement. He recalled how he has opposed the restoration of this agreement, which had been based on conditions which no longer obtained. In the days when the "Crown's Nest" Railway had been built, he said, freight was moving westward. Now British Columbia was shipping huge quantities of freight eastward, and was suffering from the exorbitant rates in force. These rates not only limited the marketing field of existing British Columbia industry, but made impossible the operations of other industries which could prosper under fair treatment.

"There is No Answer"

British Columbia faced this condition in spite of the fact that it had contributed enormous sums in cash and huge land grants to aid the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Province, said the Premier. The Province, he said, had contributed upwards of 20,000,000 acres of its best lands to the C.P.R. In addition, it had aided the construction of the Kettle Valley line with a cash grant of $1,350,000 and had given $370,000 to help building of the line from Shuswap to the Okanagan country. British Columbia thus had contributed more than its share to the construction of the C.P.R. and, in fact, was the only province which had been called upon to contribute to the cost of the C.P.R. main line, to which 14,000,000 acres of land had been granted.

It is argued that British Columbia should have higher freight rates because the cost of construction in this Province is higher than in the rest of Canada. Mr. Oliver went on to say that the cost of construction on the prairies was lower than in the East. If cost of construction is such a big factor why are the prairies not the most favored section?

The funeral of the late Edward Berry, retired naval man and veteran of the Crimean War, who died at the Jubilee Hospital on Saturday, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 from Thompson's Funeral Home. The British Camp Followers' Association have made arrangements for military honors for the aged veteran, and all members of the Association are requested to attend.

The funeral of the late Captain Thomas Horold, who passed away last Friday at his home, 1267 Fairfield Road, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Sands Funeral Chapel. Many friends were present and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. Members of Victoria Far West Lodge, K. C. F., turned out in a body to show their respect to their late brother. Rev. S. Cook officiated, and the hymn sung was "Auld Men and Boys of Auld." At the graveside the K. P. services were read by brother members, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Robert Anderson, W. Bergstrom, J. Esperson, H. Larsen, L. Nielson and Captain J. Anderson. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING

A coroner's jury under Dr. E. C. Hart this morning inquired at the Thompson Funeral Home into the circumstances whereby three Chinese boys were drowned at the Chobler shipyard on Sunday afternoon. After Chief Fry and two members of the youthful bathing party had given details showing the drownings to have been due to the lads getting into a small deep hole and being unable to swim, the jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning. The funerals will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Thompson Home.

B.C. IMPROVES GRAZING LANDS

Government Spending Income to Protect Cattle

Range Areas Now Being Utilized to Utmost

Through the fencing of water holes, reservation of water places, establishment of proper salting places, building of drift fences, trails, rotation of range and scientific management, highest utilization of British Columbia's range area is being effected by the grazing commission under the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands.

"The stock industry is of incalculable value to the Province," said Mr. Pattullo today. "One of the most difficult problems, from an administrative standpoint, is the use of the range areas of the Province. Only a little over three years ago there was no systematic handling of crown range, while many private owners had so neglected their own holdings as to render imperative the adoption of a definite policy of range control."

"Up to the end of 1921 there was available for improvement purposes from the fund, $10,053.49. There has been spent from the fund, $7,259.34."

"In the carrying out of the improvements on Crown range, the advice of local associations is sought, and the industry has been circulating, asking for information, especially on any matters where range improvement is required. Considering the magnitude of the task and the short time the Act has been in operation, complaints have been very few."

"Inasmuch as the successful administration of the Act depends in considerable measure upon the co-operation of the members of the industry itself, it is gratifying that there has not been the friction that one might anticipate from seemingly conflicting interests."

However, realizes that it is only by close co-operation and a proper spirit of give and take that the range can be administered successfully.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

SOOKE HARBOR NEWS.

Sooke Harbor, June 10.—It was on Saturday last that The Times reporter in the Sooke Harbor district met Edward G. Taylor, of Nanaimo, who is on a tour of inspection along the coast in his official capacity as Inspector of Fisheries. Mr. Taylor stated what a wonderful sight met his eyes as he entered the harbor, referring to the brom, which is now almost at its best. Just now, and for the next week or so, the whole country side is covered with a golden glory, the loveliness of which is almost impossible to describe.

On Sunday quite a party of people came from Victoria upon the Victoria Harbor Line to see the harbor, referring to the brom, which is now almost at its best. Just now, and for the next week or so, the whole country side is covered with a golden glory, the loveliness of which is almost impossible to describe.

The party visited the River Falls after an excellent luncheon at the Sooke Harbor Hotel, and were charmed with the scenery, one member stating that they were quite equal to it not surpassing in beauty the celebrated Falls near Banff, which he had often visited and photographed.

Quantities of lovely wild flowers were gathered on the way. On the return an additional short drive was made through the Sooke village as far as the country coming back to the hotel for tea by way of Maple Avenue and Grand Road. A similar drive is scheduled for next Sunday.

It was the fourth made this season, and it is surprising to see how many of the old residents of the Capital City are availing themselves of the opportunity thus afforded by this comfortable means of seeing Sooke at a very reasonable figure.

OWNERSHIP OF GOODS QUESTION IN DISPUTE

"Postage Paid" in Contract Equivalent to Naming Carrier

That the delivery of goods by the manufacturer to the carrier named in a purchaser's contract was the vesting of ownership in the purchaser by that act was the contention of E. C. Mayers, counsel for the plaintiff-appellant, Edward V. Hart, in the appeal of Hart versus Battle, in the Appeal Court to-day.

Mr. F. Hart, proprietor of the National Engraving Company, of New York, brought suit against R. Battle, a Confectioner at Ladysmith, B. C. for alleged non-payment on a contract calling for 52 news cuts a year, to be furnished at one dollar apiece. The plaintiff proved that the cuts were posted in New York, and asked $52 in damages, with costs. Judge Barker in the County Court at Nanaimo dismissed the appeal, on the evidence of the defendant that he received only two of the fifty-two cuts in question. From this decision the appellant is seeking an appeal. In the contract in question, which Mr. Mayers the respondent Battle agreed to pay postage, tantamount to stating that the cuts were to be sent by a named carrier, the Post Office in this case. The opening of Battle and at New York signified the transfer of ownership of the goods.

Frank Higgins, K. C., for the respondent, held that the contract called for delivery at Ladysmith, and claimed that the transaction was in the nature of an advertising service for use in that town, and not a mere purchase of articles. The appeal was allowed.

The appeal of Johnson versus Munsha Ram (respondent) will open this afternoon, with E. C. Mayers for the plaintiff-appellant and C. J. White for the respondent. The appeal is one from a decision of Judge Ruggles in the County Court at Vancouver. The appeal of Baskin and others versus Lindsay Brothers (appellant); and Olds versus The World Ltd. (respondent) are also on the peremptory list.

At the close of the appeal of the Newlands Sawmills, Ltd., versus Bateman, yesterday afternoon, judgment was reserved. E. C. Mayers for the plaintiffs-appellant, held that a conveyance of land made by James Edward Bateman to his wife Minnie Bateman was fraudulent, and that the learned trial judge had erred in not so ruling.

The plaintiffs-appellant, continued counsel, were judgment creditors and sought, in the main action to set aside the conveyance in question, one concerning land in the Cariboo district, so that the judgment could be made.

Martin Griffin, for the defendants-respondent, held that under the terms of the Fraudulent Preferences Act, and the general provisions of the Appeal Act, no appeal could be taken in this case. The objection was overruled. Mr. Griffin submitted that the question of fraudulent intent had been passed upon by the learned trial judge, who had held that there was no such fraud in the conveyance. Judgment was reserved.

Leave to set down the appeal of Doane versus Thomas was granted yesterday, on a motion by H. B. Robertson, K.C. J. R. Green for the plaintiff-respondent agreeing.

DISCUSS CHAIRMAN OF RAILWAY BOARD

Prairie M.P. Asks Question; Motherwell Replies

Ottawa, June 13.—(Canadian Press) When a vote of $22,845 for the Board of Railway Commissioners was under consideration in the House of Commons, C. G. Cooté, Progressive member for Macleod, asked the Minister of Railways whether Hon. W. R. Motherwell had taken any steps looking to the removal of Hon. P. B. Carvell from the post of chief of the Board. Mr. Cooté said that Hon. George Langley had appeared before a committee of the House and stated that Mr. Motherwell had made an election promise to place a resolution on the order paper calling for removal of Mr. Carvell.

Mr. Motherwell, who was in the chamber, said that he had a statement of the matter in his desk and began to search for it when Premier King arose and stated that Mr. Motherwell had made representations on the matter to the Government and that they were receiving consideration.

Mr. Cooté went on to say there was a very strong sentiment on the Prairies in favor of removal of Mr. Carvell, and there appeared to be good reason for this sentiment.

Told of Dissatisfaction. Mr. Cooté declared that the Western people were dissatisfied with the Railway Commission as it was constituted. The Minister of Agriculture had made a promise and should implement it.

Mr. Motherwell declared he was ready to make the statement if it was in order to discuss a statement made by a witness before a House committee before the report of the committee was tabled.

Out of Order. Deputy Speaker Gordon intimated that the discussion was out of order and Hon. George Graham stated that if Mr. Carvell's conduct was open to review, there was a proper method of going about it. The provision had been placed in the Railway Act to place officials, such as Railway Commissioners, above political discussion.

Mr. Motherwell said he had made his statement regarding Mr. Carvell in his capacity as a private citizen. He was now a Cabinet Minister and the position carried responsibilities.

This ended the discussion and the item carried.

SOLDIER SETTLERS WINNING SUCCESS

Official of Board Visited Central British Columbia

Vancouver, June 13.—About 200 soldier settlers in central British Columbia are valiantly achieving the pioneer's victory over Nature, according to O. C. White, of Ottawa, Assistant Director of Agriculture for the Soldier Settlement Board. Mr. White returned yesterday from a month's tour of the north country. "They have cleared a great deal of their land, and many of them have their houses built and barns built and all are making real progress," he said. "This year or next most of them will have reached the stage where they can begin deriving revenue from their efforts. The vast majority are well pleased with the prospects, and all are making determined efforts to succeed."

TO ABOLISH LIQUOR EXPORT HOUSES IN SASKATCHEWAN

Moose Jaw, Sask., June 13.—A resolution addressed to the Saskatchewan Legislature was unanimously adopted by the Saskatchewan Conference of the Methodist Church yesterday, requesting the Provincial Government to implement the recent amendment to the Canada Temperance Act introduced in the Federal Parliament, to abolish liquor export houses at the earliest possible moment. The Legislature is requested to pass an Order-in-Council to make the amendment effective in Saskatchewan.

Heated debate featured the afternoon session during discussion of the expediency of levying all moneys required for the church under the budget system, and last night Rev. W. Davidson and W. J. Young, secretary of the Lay Members' Association, indulged in a brief skirmish while discussing ways and means of levying money for the purpose of "social service and evangelistic work in the province."

Reports from numerous committees were received by the conference at its sessions yesterday.

Calgary, June 13.—A coroner's jury last night brought in a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Robert Poultnier walked into the Bow River while temporarily insane and was drowned. Mrs. Poultnier disappeared several weeks ago and on the following day the body of her three-year-old son was found in the river. Her body was recovered Sunday. Mrs. Poultnier took her son with her to the river. She was worrying over a girl friend ill in a hospital.

They were specially bound, poisoned glue being used to kill the bookworms of the tropical island, which are very destructive.

Changes in Budget Proposals Announced to Commons Members

Ottawa, June 13.—The foreshadowed changes in the budget proposals are before the House of Commons, having been announced last evening by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance. With regard to the much discussed tax on cheques and express money orders, he said the original rate of 2 cents per $50 would remain, but the maximum of the tax would be $2. There would be reductions in the tax on cigarettes, on soft drinks, on beet sugar and on stock transfers, although bonds would now be included.

There would be a new tax of 2 cents on receipts of $10 and over, and a change in the classification of cigars so as to make the higher priced cigar pay more and the cheap cigar a little less. There would be a readjustment of the automobile tax and a change in the regulations regarding depreciated currency.

The Minister prefaced his announcements with a brief review of the criticisms which had been voiced by speakers, chiefly in the Progressive ranks. The Government felt, he said, that it had a right to expect more generous treatment from the Progressives. It expected nothing from the Conservatives, because it was the business of members of that party to oppose, and also because there was pronounced division between the Government and Opposition on tariff matters. The Conservatives stood for protection. The Liberals had never stood for protection and did not now.

The Progressives took the ground that the budget should go much further. All political matters were a compromise, however, and it was only by compromise that government was carried on. Progressives had said that the proposals contained in the budget were in the right direction, and if this was the case they should give the Government their support.

Sales Tax. Mr. Fielding referred to the increased sales tax. Last year that tax had realized some $60,000,000; this year it was expected to bring in from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000. The Progressives had opposed it but their leader had not put anything forward to take its place.

"Whoever stands in my place next year," said Mr. Fielding, "may have to find new means of getting money with which to run this country, and he might as well bring back the sales tax if we were to do away with it now."

Mr. Melhien and Sir Henry Drayton, criticizing the budget from the Conservative benches, had said that the changes made were hardly worth mentioning. Mr. Fielding hoped they would tell the same story to the manufacturers when they went among that class.

Two and one-half per cent. was often considered a serious alteration to make, Mr. Fielding declared. As for symptoms of alarm, however, they were needless. Manufacturers were easily alarmed.

United States. The Minister of Finance declared that no party which did not want freer trade and better relations with the nation to the south could win the confidence of the people of this country. Canada maintained trade agreements with India, Australia, New Zealand and other countries. Surely it was in the interests of this country and of the Empire that better relations with the United States should be cultivated. His only fear was that Canada had missed the opportunity. Mr. Fielding said, "but when the time comes we are ready to meet them."

Downward. Mr. Fielding protested against the budget being called a protectionist budget. Every change proposed was downward, he said. If he was asked if this was the first step, he could only answer that there was no finality in politics.

He went on to say that Canada lost nothing through the system of drawbacks pursued by the Customs Department. As far as drawback on sugar was concerned, the country merely assessed a cargo of sugar at its highest value when it arrived, and then refunded to the importer the amount to which he was entitled when the grade and quality of the sugar were ascertained.

List of Changes. The changes from the original budget proposing five items of the customs tariff and including alterations in the inland revenue taxes and, in the special war revenue taxes, may be summarized as follows: A new tax is introduced to apply on receipts. The tax applies to all receipts of $10 and upward. The amount of the tax is two cents per each receipt and a penalty of $100 is to be imposed on any person who refuses to give a receipt duly stamped. This tax is not to come into force until January 1, 1923.

The tax on cables and telegrams is reduced from five cents to three cents. The rate in last year's budget was one cent.

The tax on cheques is altered by fixing a maximum of $2. There will still be a tax of two cents for each $50 up to this maximum.

It is provided that where a bill of exchange is payable on demand, such bill shall be deemed for the purpose of taxation to be drawn for an amount not exceeding $5,000.

The tax on transfer of stocks is reduced from five cents to three cents for $100; but bonds are now subject to the tax. The tax last year was two cents on $100.

The tax on automobiles is reduced from five cents to three cents on cheques also to express and post office money orders.

Automobiles. The taxes on automobiles are revised. The tax on passenger cars up to $1,200 in value remains at 14 per cent. On automobiles valued at more than this amount the tax will be five per cent. on the first $1,200 and ten per cent. on the value of each additional $1,200. The original proposal in this year's budget was to place a tax of ten per cent. on the total value of all cars valued at more than $1,200. The tax on automobiles will not apply on motor cars purchased by a dealer before May 24 and sold to a user prior to that date, provided that the car is imported before July 1.

Confessionary. The tax of five per cent. on confessionary remains, but it will not apply to "goods packed ready for sale in cartons or other packages"

LONG MOTOR TOUR 'IN AUSTRALIA

Party Crosses Land from South to North

Wage Question in Australia; Strike Talk

(Times Correspondence) Melbourne, Australia, June 12.—A motoring expedition, starting from Adelaide in the south and traveling north to Port Darwin on the Gulf of Carpentaria, a distance, including the windings of the trail, of nearly 8,000 miles, is now on its long journey, the longest tour ever attempted on this continent.

Those participating are Messrs. T. McCallum, a member of the South Australia Legislature, his brother and Captain S. A. White, a noted orthologist.

The party proposes to explore country hitherto unknown. The greatest difficulty to be faced is in a portion of the route where there is a stretch of sandhills extending for over thirty miles.

Yacht Stolen. The days of piracy in the South Seas are not yet ended. Warships at present are on the lookout for a party of men who stole a yacht from Auckland and disappeared in the warm wastes of the South Pacific, making it is believed, for Tonga or the Kermadecs.

The yacht is the Raata, owned by a well known Auckland business man. He had planned a holiday cruise to the Great Barrier Island and had got provisions on board in preparation.

Then stores in the neighborhood of the harbor one morning were found burglarized and an hour or two later the yacht, which has powerful auxiliary engines and is capable of good speed, was missing. Tracks left by the burglars showed that they had gone on board the yacht with the booty.

Sighted. By wireless all the incoming steamships were notified. The Wairuna, arriving from American ports, reported sighting a yacht before she received the warning. It was then half way to the Kermadecs. It kept away from the steamship while in sight. Wireless messages were next sent to the New Zealand warships Chatham and Veronica asking them to keep a good lookout for the pirates and they are now searching in the neighborhood of Fiji.

Wage Question. Both in New Zealand and Australia organized labor is preparing for a struggle against proposed reductions in wages.

In New Zealand the public service had its wages so deeply cut that it abandoned its traditions and attempted to affiliate with the Alliance of Labor, an organization of trade unions, in the hope of bringing political pressure to bear on the government. The government retorted by threatening to dismiss all the members of the service who actually joined. After much negotiation the postal and telegraph branch, which was mainly concerned, decided to postpone the matter for the time being.

A petition, however, will be presented to Parliament asking protection from intimidation by the Government and the withdrawal of the embargo on the use of lawful rights.

In Australia the courts of arbitration have reduced the basic wage and the states are considering abolishing them altogether. Already small strikes have begun and a general strike which will paralyze activity throughout the Commonwealth is openly talked of. As there are at present 40,000 persons out of work in Australia, any addition to their numbers would be most serious at this juncture.

Killed Woman. Because he lost his job (wife) and two picnicians from disease, an aboriginal named Wuncurra living far in the interior of Australia suspected an old woman of his tribe of witchcraft. He tracked her for days across country and, coming on her digging in a rabbit-warren, killed her with a boomerang and spear.

He was arrested, but in the absence of the body of the woman could not be tried. He agreed to find it and took the police 300 miles into the back country. On the way home the party nearly died of thirst, the murderer finally being refused food and water until he showed the others a secret well known only to the natives.

Rescued. Wuncurra declares he carried out tribal law in killing the witch. Cooktown, on the Queensland coast, eight of the crew saw three ships pass them and not notice their signals. Finally, after they had spent three days and nights on the reef and were exhausted from heat and thirst, as well as hunger, the steamship Rio Azul, bound for Samarang in the Dutch East Indies, saw a ragged ship flitting from the pinnacle of rocks and rescued the whole party. The men were perished, six Japanese and two aboriginals. So fearful were they of not being rescued that they jumped into the sea and swam towards the ship, some of them covering more than two miles. A waterspout struck their vessel when they were returning from Thursday Island pearl fishery, and they were just able to reach the reef before the foundered.

THE BUDGET PROPOSALS.

There usually is an amendment of budget proposals in the interval between their announcement and adoption by Parliament, and Mr. Fielding's program is no exception from the rule. In deference to representations from various elements in the country, he has made certain reductions in the proposed schedule of new taxation submitted by him, notably on cheques, tobacco, automobiles, bond transfers. He has made an important change in regard to the customs duty on goods imported from countries where there is depreciated currency, making the value of goods produced in Great Britain the standard minimum for application to all other countries of low currency. The late Government fixed an arbitrary valuation of fifty per cent. of the normal currency; that is to say the Canadian customs officials appraised for duty German goods on the basis of fifty per cent. of the normal value of the mark, that is at the rate of 12 cents instead of at the mark's full actual present value of one-third of a cent. Mr. Fielding poured ridicule on this device in his original budget speech, but nevertheless he has been induced to make a very considerable change of front by providing that these goods be appraised at what their value would be if they were produced in Great Britain. This, no doubt is designed partly to help Canadian-British trade, for it is clear enough that if goods from the continent of Europe were appraised at their value in their own present currency, there would be a serious decline in imports into Canada from Great Britain and a big increase in those from the Continent. In that case the British preference would not be worth very much.

This modification will be attacked by the Progressives who may be expected to continue their hostility to the budget. Indeed Mr. Fielding has made virtually no concessions to their policy, most of the changes being in the interests of those to whom the Progressives are fundamentally opposed. The changes are calculated to be more satisfactory to the Conservatives, but whether they will bring about any defections from Mr. Meighen's ranks remains to be seen. The prospects are that the main motion will see both Progressives and Conservatives voting against the Government, with not sufficient strength to force a dissolution. An Ottawa dispatch reports talk of another general election in September, that this would result in the return of the Government with a comfortable majority over all opposition. But the general membership of the House of Commons will not take kindly to that idea, and we expect that there always will be a few absentees from crucial divisions. In the summer months liver troubles and sick headaches are quite common among the members at Ottawa. Moreover, there should not be another election before redistribution and there may be serious political trouble for somebody if one should be held.

STILL SAFE AND SOUND.

While one or two of the London newspapers were indulging in lugubrious anticipations because the Government had not cancelled the visit of the Prince of Wales to Egypt the heir to the throne was being greeted by hearty cheers as he drove through the streets of Cairo in company with Viscount Allenby. Nor was the Prince satisfied with this formal parade that would give him no opportunity of getting into touch with the people; the subject of head-shakings at home befell him last night. That is all the more reawhere, if anywhere in Cairo, his life might have been in danger, or at least worth the smallest purchase. Later in the day he played polo and received the order of Mohammed Ali from the hands of King Faud. Nothing untoward happened from the time he landed in Cairo until he was once more aboard the Renown homeward bound. Precisely the same warnings were given before the Prince departed for India and all sorts of influences were brought to bear with the object of cancelling the tour. It may not have been a huge success, but it goes without saying that if the sceptics had had their way the political effect that would have been created in India and in the East generally would have been a good deal more damaging to British rule than anything that took place in one or two isolated cases. Whatever else may be laid up to native cunning, the native mind seems to have demonstrated its approval of the heir-apparent's determination to see things through with that type of British resolution which Eastern peoples understand.

A NOBLE EXAMPLE.

It would be difficult to discover a finer example of heroism than that which marked the devotion of the two Chinese boys who vainly endeavored to save a playmate from drowning and lost their lives in the attempt. After it became obvious that fifteen-year-old Wong Quon Wai was in difficulties ten-year-old Lee Gee Shew ignored the possibilities of danger to himself and pushed out to the assistance of his elder companion. Having grasped the significance of the plight in which the two found themselves Nip Latig Poi, himself only sixteen years of age, and none too strong, did all that was humanly possible to extricate the exhausted boys from the kelp-strewn waters, but his strength was not sufficient for the ordeal and the trio went to their death. These bare details are sufficient to convey a plain idea of the capacity of the Oriental mind to absorb the principle of what the Anglo-Saxon often describes as playing the game. The incident is a noble example of self-sacrifice and a practical lesson of Divine conception. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for a friend."

THE SUMAS PROJECT.

As far as the main reclamation project at Sumas is concerned the recent high water test that has been imposed upon the Eastern unit of the undertaking has demonstrated the fact that the engineering problem no longer remains a doubtful one. The Minister of Agriculture has returned from the scene of the recent floods—which were too much for the temporary barrier that had been erected in the hope that earlier crops might be wrested from another part of the area to be reclaimed by permanent works—and he declares without hesitation that the whole scheme is feasible and economically practical. As evidence in support of this reassuring announcement Mr. Barrow cites the conditions of the completed unit where "grass is waving and cattle are grazing secure from the river." No fewer than six thousand acres are protected by this particular dyke and it has been discovered that the underground seepage is nothing like as much as had been provided for. Consequently if all the Minister's expectations from the plan shall be realized the Province will have something tangible to show for its outlay and one more investment will be automatically lifted clear of political controversy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Now that so many people will be visiting the city from week to week would it not be possible for the City Council to arrange for a band to meet the boats in the afternoon and play for a couple of hours in the grounds of the Parliament Buildings? It seems an active and timely thing to do, and worth considering.

"You can bet your life if we have another war and if we're attacked we'll use gas." The speaker was Rear-Admiral Sims at a dinner at Albany last night. That is all the more reason why the people of the United States and other countries should take a hand in saying whether or not there shall be another war.

Canada's Trade Commissioner at Calcutta says British Columbia ought to attract a large number of civil servants from India to settle on our agricultural lands. He also says that if the British Columbia Government will not send a representative to India he will undertake to carry out the necessary work himself. British Columbia's superintendent of soldier settlement is at present at Simla and will be putting the rule over all the possibles with whom he can get into touch. But it will have to be understood that only workers, hard and willing workers, will make good here.

CAUSE OF CAUSES.

To the Editor:—Having contributed to the absolutely interesting controversy, about the above subject, I beg the indulgent permission of the Editor for a "parting word," by boldly venturing to propose that science will yet harmonize its findings with the Bible. (Note by this I do not infer ecclesiastical dogmatism) and also, that no religion will be considered worthy of serious thought that is not also scientific. Iarken to a prophecy that reads: "The greatest of all authorities, that 'Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.' And, also, likewise declared by the Prophet Hosea, chap. IV, verse 6. 'My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.' (mark not for lack of dogma) because they have rejected knowledge. I will also reject those 'Knowledge' that we profess, that gives us an intelligent reverence, rather than blind, emotional faith is the key to our salvation.

In that wonderful book, the Bible, which reads with an open mind, we find from all prehistoric dictum, opens up a wealth of knowledge, unlocking the mysteries which for the lack of knowing has hitherto shackled us in ignorance. The Master Philosopher Christ stated: "I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot hear them now. When I shall have said these things, ye shall also hear." What, pray, could be more scientific than this simple statement!

Pardon the digression in attempting to touch upon the alleged discrepancies often referred to by the sceptical in questioning the authority of the inspired writer of the "Genesis Narrative." May I suggest that the seeming contradictions may be ascribed to the very limited vocabulary in vogue at that primitive period?

In conclusion, I heartily wish to thank such as "Ajax" who are not afraid to think contrary to conventionally accepted dictum.

CAUSE OF CAUSES.

To the Editor:—Having followed with intense interest the ardent battle of minds and pens upon the absorbing discussion of the "Cause of Causes," I thought, perhaps, the following humorous selection might relieve the tension of both friend and foe in their praiseworthy "battle."

"He thought the Creator in building up nature
Had blundered unaccountably queer.
He said: 'He and Darwin and Billy McVary are stumped by the Creator.
Could prove the whole thing out of gear.'"

He said: 'The whole pattern from Neptune to the sun, is the work of a bungling designer.
There was no particular plum-perpendicular
And exact every time to the line.
So his wife took in sewing.
To keep things a-going."

SIR LOMER GOULIN'S DEFENCE OF PROTECTION.

To the Editor:—I notice that Conservative speakers and writers are highly delighted with the speech made by Sir Lomer Goulin in the House of Commons the other evening in defence of protection. The speech is noteworthy rather for what it assumes than for what it asserts. Its two main assumptions are:

1. That without protection Canada would not have a revenue-producing tariff.
2. That "Canada had free trade she would have no manufacturers and her 600,000 industrial workers would be 'thrown out on the streets.'"

The first assumption is an off-exploded myth. Great Britain for seventy-five years raised her entire revenue, and is to-day raising ninety-nine per cent. of her revenue by free trade taxation. Her financial obligations during that period have been small, but she has always been able to meet them.

As to the second assumption, one would naturally suppose that Great Britain, after seventy years of Free Trade, after having gone out of existence as a manufacturing country. Well, Mr. Editor, many of your readers come from England, and many more have spent some time there in the last few years. I would ask them if they have ever seen smoke coming out of a factory chimney in the Old Land. If they have, there must be some manufacturing going on there still in spite of free trade.

I know a little about the manufacturing industries of British Columbia, and I say unhesitatingly that ninety-five per cent. of them would be in a more healthy and prosperous state under free trade than they are now. There are perhaps a few exceptions, but very few, consisting of small concerns which have been started for the express purpose of using the tariff in order to compel the public to pay higher prices. It would not be asking too much to ask them to accommodate themselves to free trade conditions. If any of them were unable to do so, then it would be cheaper and kinder to give them a decent burial, rather than encourage them to go on dragging out a purely parasitic existence.

FRER TRADER
Victoria, B. C., June 10, 1922.

RE HOTHOUSE GROWERS.

To the Editor:—My attention having been drawn to an item which appeared in your columns of the 7th instant, which stated a deputation of the Victoria Hothouse Association headed by Mr. F. A. Pauling, M.P., for Sanich, had waited on the Hon. Mr. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture to appeal for protection against Oriental competitors on the grounds that 60 per cent. of the business is now being done by the latter or rather 60 per cent. greenhouse are now being run by Oriental growers. Their grown produce is not up to the standard and infected with plant disease. Let me permit me as a secretary of a Chinese greenhouse of some years standing to say that this sweeping assertion which is in keeping with the usual outcry always springing from purely selfish motives of Oriental competition in any branch of trade in which they are engaged.

It is possibly true that 60 per cent. of the greenhouse produce of the Orientals, as stated, but that their product is of inferior quality, and infected with plant disease, is a statement that can not be supported by fact and is utterly unwarranted. I don't think any gentleman of this deputation can grow better or cleaner produce in his own greenhouse than we are growing in ours, and I should be glad indeed to know if it is equally as good in quality. The mere fact that the Orientals are shipping a large part of their produce outside the province, speaks louder than words for the quality of these products, and also answers the charge about plant disease, for any one with experience knows that quality can not be secured from diseased plants.

CAUSE OF CAUSES.

To the Editor:—In the interesting letters dealing with the Cause of Causes an important aspect has been disregarded by both of the disputants.
Creation in the strict sense of the word is the bringing into existence of the complete substance in which it is not existing in any form. We may term this negative condition "nothing," creation then, to put it briefly, is the production of something from nothing.

Now the human mind naturally recoils from the idea of matter being created from nothing, existence from non-existence.
Let us for the sake of argument concede that there was a period of time when there was a total and complete vacuum, so far as the substance composing this universe is concerned. Now the only way we can gain true knowledge of the Cosmos is by studying phenomena and reasoning therefrom. If we do so, we must reach the conclusion that it is irrational to suppose that energy working in and on a vacuum could bring any thing into existence. In other words, I repeat, it is contrary to reason to hold that energy, however vast, can produce something from nothing, as a conjurer produces an egg from the hollow of an empty sack.

Nevertheless, we are faced with the fact that the material universe is in existence, and if in its beginning there was "nothing," how could it come into existence? Only, in one way. Let us suppose that although nothing in the form of matter existed in existence, yet energy was present. Then since nothing can come from nothing the only alternative is this: Matter has been evolved from energy itself by some process of alteration.

In this way we can rationally conceive of matter being originated, but if so, then energy and matter are fundamentally one.
And the deeper that science probes into the mystery of the construction of matter the more certain we become that "nothing" is really the stupendous Universe and maintains it in a condition of intricate balance cannot be considered as separable. The two are so intimately connected in thought that they may truly be considered as one.

Therefore if matter is energy and if energy is God, what is the necessity of any belief in Creation in the strict sense of the word? For if God is eternal, then matter and energy are eternal and have existed from everlasting. "God being all in all."

This argument, you will of course note, points clearly to the fact that the Cause of Causes is locked in the puzzle itself, from the very nature of the case, and logically cannot be considered as standing alone and apart and separate therefrom, a watchmaker in separate and independent from his watch, or an architect from his building.

W. H. S.
Victoria, B. C., June 9, 1922.

STILL ANOTHER WORD.

To the Editor:—When I wrote "A Parting Word" over my last communication I meant it, knowing I was to be a whole week away from my books, and realizing that one's books are one's tools without which one can do nothing. But I cannot let "Ajax's" letter in Saturday's Times go for a whole week without a word of rejoinder.

He says he is "really pained to see such a weak effort" in defence of the Genesis narrative. Judging by his attitude toward that narrative I should think that he ought rather to rejoice. But when he goes on to say that I have admitted in effect that the narrative is merely the crystallization of prehistoric myths and legends he gives me cause to be pained at his lack of fairness as a disputant. I challenge him to cite a single word of mine to warrant his assertion. I defend and repudiate the very notion that the story of the Creation as told in Genesis is mythical or legendary.

believing as I do, that the Bible from beginning to end is the inspired Word of God and infallibly true.

"Ajax" manages to convey to your readers the idea that I have been begging about St. Augustine and citing only what suited myself. I cited all I could find in the place to which the reference was given. He cites words from a different work altogether. On my return home I shall look up the reference.

I have not denied that the words attributed to St. Thomas may be found somewhere in his voluminous writings. But I have expressed a doubt about it, and have asked for the inclination to search for the words now to the Summa, Part Third. If that is his idea of an exact reference, I can only say it is not mine, and that I have neither the time nor the inclination to search for the proverbial needle in the haystack, and am confirmed in my belief that he is quoting at second hand, perhaps at third or fourth hand.

I confess to having quoted Darwin at second-hand, but plead guilty of having given his words "a twist or bias." If there were such twist or bias, it should be credited to the one from whom I borrowed the words. But in reality there is none. Darwin candidly admits his ignorance of how life originated on the earth. That was his misfortune. It is our good fortune to know that, as life can come only from pre-existing life, the first living thing that appeared upon the earth must have been from the First Cause, and not from "nothing."

"Nothing" ascribes intelligence to the lower animals. He does not appear to have a clear idea of what intelligence is. The lower animal is endowed with instinct, not with intelligence. For a detailed statement of the difference between the two I would refer him to a booklet of mine, "The Bee and Evolution."

to 1913. The physical connection between the Eastern and Western lines of the Canadian Northern was made in 1914, and then there was a deficit on fixed charges of $1,640,000.

"The result was to change a substantial surplus to a deficit, substantially increasing to the present time," asked Mr. Hudson.

"That may be," was Mr. Hanna's reply, "but I would like to qualify it. Operating conditions have changed, and you can hardly compare existing conditions with those in the old times. If the changes in condition are not right, an inference might be drawn that we had lost our ability to operate."

"The main change in conditions," suggested Mr. Hudson, "is the opening up of the unprofitable Eastern sections."

"Not very unprofitable," was the reply. "Do you think you would have continued to have surpluses if you had limited your operations to the West?" queried W. D. Euler, M.P.

"I don't think so," answered Mr. Hanna.

Most Profitable
"Your lines between Edmonton and Fort Arthur are the most profitable parts of your system," remarked Mr. Hudson.

"Of course that," agreed the Canadian-National president.

Here the chairman asked Mr. Hanna if he favored a reduction in rates on "basic commodities" rather than a return to the Crow's Nest rates.

"Yes," was the reply. President Hanna stated that it was proposed to go back on the "basic commodities" practically to 1918 rates. It would be a reduction of substantially 20 per cent.

H. Charlesworth and T. Cornett at Local Council Meeting

Phases of school curriculum and education were explained to the Local Council of Women at its last meeting of the season yesterday afternoon by H. Charlesworth, President of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, and T. W. Cornett, Vice-President of the Victoria High School.

Both attended in response to an invitation from the Council and answered a number of pertinent questions concerning school affairs.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon, first vice-president, took the chair in the absence of Mrs. Schofield.

Discipline and manners were freely discussed as a result of a question from Mrs. Gordon, who expressed the view that many school children of today showed a lack of courtesy to their elders and lack of consideration for other people's property.

In answer to this criticism, Mr. Charlesworth declared that much of the blame for this lay at the door of the parents and suggested that together with a view to emphasizing upon the child's mind the value of courtesy and consideration.

The speaker also criticized the practice of school children in the schools, on the ground that personal cleanliness and health habits should not be made a matter of competition.

Mr. Cornett urged the need for a movement towards the higher development of efficiency in every department of life, claiming that there was great difficulty in getting students to do serious and accurate work.

Technical education was also dealt with by the speaker, who suggested that everyone should not be a poet or artist. Some one would have to build the sidewalks and erect the houses. To obtain this technical school or a return to an apprenticeship system would be essential. School curricula should be arranged with a view to fitting the student for after life.

Business matters coming before the Council included the endorsement of a suggestion that Mrs. West, the delegate of the New Westminster Local Council, should represent the Victoria body at the National Council meeting in Winnipeg.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

Social & Personal

at tea at the Yacht Club prior to their departure. The guests at the dance included Messrs. Don Cameron, Dare, Galligan, Fry, Winwood, Greenough, Hurley, Norquist, Fursman, Froude, Goodwin, Rye, Burkheimer, Walling, Lill, Da Bels, Graham and Gardner.

all members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity of the University, and Messrs. Alan and Don Maclean, Raymond Kinlock, Halfour Strath, Fred Scott, Moody, James McNamee, Charles Phipps and the Misses Ruth Curtis, Claudia Cullum, Marjorie Bell, Dorothy Hicks, Alexa Martin, Emily Anderson, Hazel Anderson, Garrison, Doris, Plimley, Claire Rose, Muriel Miller, Jessie Playfair, "Tibby" Legge, Frances Beecroft, Helga Johnson, Winnie Bell, Maple Winterburn, Ruth Deakin, Betty Savannah, Ruth Dier, Grace Elliott, Alison and Constance Chow. The music for dancing was supplied by Halagoo's orchestra, and a delicious supper was served by the hostess.

Members of the Margaret Roeke Robertson Chapter, O. E. D. E. met at the home of Miss K. Schell last evening to see the film "The Power of Love" which was held at the home of Miss Hae Terry, St. James Street, on Saturday afternoon, June 24. Miss Terry is the general convener of the annual garden fete of the "St. John's Ladies' Guild." Afternoon tea will be served under the direction of Miss Margaret Sanson, and Miss Theresa Donnell will have charge of the musical programme.

The beautiful gardens of Leasowes and "Windyhaugh," Fairfield Road, will be thrown open to the public by kind permission of Mrs. J. H. Todd and Capt. J. H. Gillespie, on Thursday from 3 to 5, the occasion being the annual garden fete of the "St. John's Ladies' Guild." Afternoon tea and all kinds of refreshments will be served throughout the afternoon, and games and sports of various kinds will be provided, including clock golf, bowling, Aunt Sally, coconut shie, spinning Jenny and putting shie. The delegates to the Good Roads Convention have been invited and have accepted their invitation of being present on the occasion. Bishop Schofield will be present at 3 o'clock to open the garden party, and a hearty invitation is extended to all to avail themselves of a very enjoyable afternoon in one of the most beautiful gardens in Victoria.

The new opera company at Rome recently gave a fine performance of Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West."

The opera season at Milan has seen ninety-four performances of grand operas. It is interesting to note the order in the number of productions as follows: "Boris Godounoff" 14, "Rigoletto" 13, "Parsifal" 11, "Falstaff" 10, "Metastasio" 12, "Barber of Seville" 8, "Trittico" 7, "La Wally" 7, "Meistersinger" 7 and "I Quattro Rustighi" 3.

The past few weeks have established a record for musical activity in London, England. There were scores of recitals of unusual merit, and the Covent Garden opera season has been a brilliant one. The Vatican Choir has met with great success there, as has Serge Rachmaninoff, and Mrs. Henry Wood, the great English conductor, was once offered the conductorship of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in succession to Karl Muck, but declined the offer.

Chopin belonged to the "romantic" period, and Wagner is usually regarded as the first "modern" composer, as distinguished from the romantics.

Musical Guide for Library
 Musical America's Guide (New York) for 1922 has just been issued. It epitomizes the musical activities of the U.S.A. and references are made to many of the cities and towns throughout Canada. Victoria is included in the list with an admirable description of its theatres, music clubs and organizations. It is suggested that this "Guide" should find a place in every public library, including this city and the Connaught Library at the Parliament Buildings. It has a host of facts that are not available elsewhere and, aside from the digest of musical resources, it is of value in an advisory capacity. Railroads and hotels are listed. The population of each city is given, and it contains some well written articles. There are 206 pages in the issue.

It is written that when Lloyd George gets worried over affairs of his country (and abroad just now) he goes to his home in Wales and plays hymns on the organ. Another to console himself by playing the flute and piano is George Tchitcherine, the Soviet Commissioner of Foreign Affairs. These instances of the important role music plays in human affairs.

New York is to have next season another symphony orchestra. Such an organization at once stamps any city as one of wealth, prosperity and progressiveness.

Music Festival Again Suggested
 The recent festival of English music at Bournemouth drew an attendance of 20,000 people, which proved a record in its history, even with the favorite recitals of the "Bournemouth Music Festival." Let it once more be asked, Cannot Victoria have a musical festival, too? Why not include a big music festival in the suggested three days celebration for next Spring (1923)?

So Cincinnati has gone outside its country to get a successor to Eugene Ysaeye. The new conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is Fritz Reiner, of Hungary.

"Musical America" says "that grand lady of British music, Dame Ethel Smyth." Quite so.

A noiseless metronome (an instrument for measuring time) has been invented. Polly Blaire Damosch, a daughter of Walter Damosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, has chosen a stage career, for which she has been studying for some time. She plays the piano beautifully.

PUBLIC APPEAL FOR ORPHAN'S HOME

Tag Day - Saturday to Aid Protestant Orphanage

From time to time tag days are held in the streets of Victoria for organizations whose philanthropic work entitles them to public support, but no appeal is more justified or entitled to more sympathetic and generous support than that which is to be made on Saturday next on behalf of the Protestant Orphan's Home.

Sixty motherless and fatherless little ones up to the age of fifteen years are at present inmates of the institution, which is in every sense of the word a home. Every possible care is given to the kiddies by the efficient committee composed of the members of each Protestant church in the city, headed by Mrs. G. A. McTavish, the president, who for many years has shown the most loving interest in the home.

Dependent entirely upon voluntary contributions for its maintenance, the home is one of the most deserving philanthropies in the city, and it is sincerely hoped that every lover of children, irrespective of denomination, will respond generously to this appeal.

The beautiful gardens of Leasowes and "Windyhaugh," Fairfield Road, will be thrown open to the public by kind permission of Mrs. J. H. Todd and Capt. J. H. Music Festival Again Suggested
 The recent festival of English music at Bournemouth drew an attendance of 20,000 people, which proved a record in its history, even with the favorite recitals of the "Bournemouth Music Festival." Let it once more be asked, Cannot Victoria have a musical festival, too? Why not include a big music festival in the suggested three days celebration for next Spring (1923)?

So Cincinnati has gone outside its country to get a successor to Eugene Ysaeye. The new conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is Fritz Reiner, of Hungary.

"Musical America" says "that grand lady of British music, Dame Ethel Smyth." Quite so.

A noiseless metronome (an instrument for measuring time) has been invented. Polly Blaire Damosch, a daughter of Walter Damosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, has chosen a stage career, for which she has been studying for some time. She plays the piano beautifully.

The new opera company at Rome recently gave a fine performance of Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West."

The opera season at Milan has seen ninety-four performances of grand operas. It is interesting to note the order in the number of productions as follows: "Boris Godounoff" 14, "Rigoletto" 13, "Parsifal" 11, "Falstaff" 10, "Metastasio" 12, "Barber of Seville" 8, "Trittico" 7, "La Wally" 7, "Meistersinger" 7 and "I Quattro Rustighi" 3.

The past few weeks have established a record for musical activity in London, England. There were scores of recitals of unusual merit, and the Covent Garden opera season has been a brilliant one. The Vatican Choir has met with great success there, as has Serge Rachmaninoff, and Mrs. Henry Wood, the great English conductor, was once offered the conductorship of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in succession to Karl Muck, but declined the offer.

Chopin belonged to the "romantic" period, and Wagner is usually regarded as the first "modern" composer, as distinguished from the romantics.

Musical Guide for Library
 Musical America's Guide (New York) for 1922 has just been issued. It epitomizes the musical activities of the U.S.A. and references are made to many of the cities and towns throughout Canada. Victoria is included in the list with an admirable description of its theatres, music clubs and organizations. It is suggested that this "Guide" should find a place in every public library, including this city and the Connaught Library at the Parliament Buildings. It has a host of facts that are not available elsewhere and, aside from the digest of musical resources, it is of value in an advisory capacity. Railroads and hotels are listed. The population of each city is given, and it contains some well written articles. There are 206 pages in the issue.

It is written that when Lloyd George gets worried over affairs of his country (and abroad just now) he goes to his home in Wales and plays hymns on the organ. Another to console himself by playing the flute and piano is George Tchitcherine, the Soviet Commissioner of Foreign Affairs. These instances of the important role music plays in human affairs.

New York is to have next season another symphony orchestra. Such an organization at once stamps any city as one of wealth, prosperity and progressiveness.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Canadian Made
 A fresh, rosy complexion indicates perfect health. To secure this in most cases all that is necessary is to take one to three Royal Yeast Cakes a day for a few weeks.

Royal Yeast is a food. It supplies the water soluble vitamins which the diet may lack. Scientists tell us that this vitamin is essential to good health. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in many cases in which the system seems to be run down. The yeast-cakes simply add to the diet. It is a food - not a medicine.

Dissolve a Royal Yeast Cake in fruit juices or mix it with cereal and milk, and take it at meal time. The chances are in a few weeks the complexion will be clear. For children reduce the amount to one-half or one-quarter of a cake with each meal.

Watch Your Gums—Bleeding a Sign of Trouble

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the forerunners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. These poisons often cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anaemia, and other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

FOR CHILDREN THE SANDMAN STORY FOR T-O-N-I-G-H-T

MR. FOX AND JIMMIE CROW
HAVE WORDS.

Mr. Fox and Jimmie Crow never seem to be on friendly terms. For Jimmie happens to see Mr. Fox creeping through the grass or along the path in the woods he is sure to give him a warning call and all the nice hens and turkeys that have strayed from the farm are sure to run to cover.

"He never can attend to his own affairs," Mr. Fox is always saying when he hears Jimmie's cry, and so Mr. Fox is always glad when he thinks matters are going wrong for Jimmie.

That was the reason that one morning when Mr. Fox was coming home he stopped to see what the farmer was so busy at in the cornfield when it was planting time.

Mr. Fox is not only inquisitive but very bold as well and he crept close to the stone wall and peered through the cracks.

Mr. Man was doing something to the corn before he planted it. "I guess that will fix old Jim Crow," he heard the farmer telling his helper.

"I have rolled the corn in soft tar and now I will roll it in wood ashes so I can handle it. Jimmie won't care for it now. I feel pretty certain."

Mr. Fox wanted to laugh, he did smile, and he could hardly wait for Jimmie Crow to get to the cornfield and watch him try to eat the tarred corn.

He did not have long to wait, for the next morning Jimmie was there bright and early and so was Mr. Fox, waiting behind the stone wall to see the fun: he was just returning from his breakfast and didn't mind wasting time at all just then.

Jimmie Crow flew to a tree near by and looked with sharp eyes everywhere: no one was around, for Jimmie could see in all directions.

He flew down to the ground and began to hunt for the corn he saw the farmer planting. One after another of the kernels he dropped as he uncovered them. "Poor stuff, poor stuff," Mr. Fox heard Jimmie mutter. "Mr. Man won't get much of a crop this year from his planting."

"And you won't get much of a breakfast," laughed Mr. Fox to himself as he peered through the stone wall.

Jimmie Crow kept on trying, but it was no use: there was something wrong with the corn, and at last he gave up and flew to the top of the stone wall right over the spot where Mr. Fox was hiding on the other side.

"Ha, ha, ha," laughed Mr. Fox, as Jimmie alighted. "You do not like tar I see, Mr. Crow."

Jimmie Crow looked down at Mr. Fox. "Tar?" he questioned; "what do you mean?"

"Why that Mr. Man fooled you this year: he rolled his corn in tar so you could not eat it. Good joke on you, Mr. Crow. Serves you right for you are a very bad fellow and Mr. Man would like to be rid of you. He isn't the only one, either, the birds would also, for you eat their eggs, and that is very wicked, Mr. Crow: very wicked, indeed. Don't you know that every time you destroy a nest full of eggs you rob the world of song birds. You should not eat eggs, Mr. Crow."

Jimmie sat with cocked head listening, and then he said: "What is that on your mouth, Mr. Fox? It looks to me like egg. It can't be, of course, that you would eat hen's eggs. Don't you know that is very wicked, indeed?" Jimmie looked closer. "I do believe it is egg; you have been eating eggs for your breakfast, Mr. Fox. Oh, how cruel: every time you eat an egg you rob the barnyard of the sweet peep of a chicken."

But Mr. Fox was not there to hear; he was trotting off home. Jimmie Crow cawed after him in a loud tone. "Pot calling the kettle black" is an old saying, Mr. Fox; think it over. Caw, caw, caw."

Mr. Champion held out his hand, but I ignored it. "I beg your pardon," he said. "I spoke without thinking. I hope you will be very happy."

"I know I shall be," I answered, smiling. "And so, you see, though it's very kind of you to ask me, I shan't be able to let you give me any riding lessons, because I don't think Mark would like it."

"No, I suppose he would not like it," Mr. Champion agreed dryly. "Well, I am sorry—very sorry."

"So's Mrs. Alberry," I told him; "but nobody else will mind. Mother and father will jump for joy to think they have got rid of me, you see if they don't."

He looked at me with a queer expression in his eyes.

"And are you going to be married soon?" he asked. "I hesitated. 'You see, we shan't be sure yet. You see, we shan't be sure yet—just at first, anyway. Not that I mind being poor, but—'

I stopped, remembering what Mr. Alberry had said about this man being the mortgagee of Mark's property.

"You are very rich, aren't you?" I asked. "I believe I am, yes. I have often wondered since how I ever had the courage to ask my next question, but ask it I did."

"Then why do you want a mortgage on Mark Anderson's farm?" He stared at me in astonishment. "Who told you anything about it?" He asked angrily. "If Anderson told you—"

"He didn't, it was Mr. Alberry," I interrupted. "He shrugged his shoulders. 'I thought mortgages were horrid people,' I went on, wading out of my depths in a subject of which I understood nothing. 'I know in books they always are! Don't they foreclose, or something, just at the worst time and ruin everybody?'

Mr. Champion burst out laughing. "I know I've heard something of the sort," I protested. "He went over the fire, and kicked at a burning log with his boot; then he said abruptly: 'What you really mean is, why don't I free Anderson of the mortgage, isn't it?'

"Yes. 'Because then he would be able to marry you—at once,' he said, again, and I said 'yes' once more, with breathless eagerness. He turned round and looked at me with a queer expression in his eyes. 'I'll make a bargain with you, little Miss Sally,' he said suddenly. 'That is, if you are willing?'

"I nodded. 'Why, of course! What is it?' 'That if Anderson marries you I will free him of his mortgage every penny of it, on your wedding day, and that if he does not—'

I waited a moment, I haven't finished," he added, as I made a little rush at him. "If he does not marry you, that you give me a change?"

The One Unwanted

By RUBY M. AYRES

INSTALLMENT No. 15

"I think you're a dear," I said. He winced, as if I had said something unkind.

"Well, it's all settled, eh? Then I think, Alberry, you're going."

He took up his hat and stick from the table.

"You are writing letters," he said. "Yes—to tell mother I am going to be married."

He looked at me for a moment without speaking, then he said earnestly: "You are very young, little Miss Sally. Are you sure that Anderson is the right man for you?"

"I know that I love him," I answered. He gave a quick, little sigh. "Lucky man," he said lightly. "Well, good-by."

We shook hands and I followed him to the door.

"So there is to be no riding lesson for the present," he said. "No."

"Well—good night." "Good night," I said. I shut the door after him, and went back into the kitchen. I felt that the last half-hour had been a dream.

Lionel Champion, the sought-after! The rich! The man whom my mother had chosen for Nell—preferred me!

It was absurd! Incredible! My cheeks burned with excitement. I, who had never been admired in my life, or received the least attention, found myself all at once with two lovers! What on earth had brought about such a change?

Mrs. Alberry came into the room. She looked round suspiciously. "It's all right; he's gone," I said cheerily. "And you need not look at me like that. I'm not going to tell you I'm engaged to him as well!"

My heart jumped as, with a silent disapproving look at me, Mrs. Alberry got up from the table and sailed out of the room.

She came back almost at once with a note, which she laid beside my plate.

Mr. Anderson's boy brought it," she said stiffly. "I grabbed it up and thrust it into my frock. He was not coming! My heart almost sank into my shoes with disappointment, but I was not going to read his letter with Mrs. Alberry and her husband sitting there staring at me."

"I should like some more tea, please," I said, breaking the unbearable silence.

Mr. Alberry cleared his throat, and said it looked like rain. I was sorry for him, poor man! I knew that he sympathized with Mark and me, but that he was too afraid of his wife to admit it. I escaped from the room as soon as I could, and went off to read my letter alone.

My first love letter! It was very short, but it seemed to me the most wonderful in all the world.

"MY PRECIOUS!—I shall not be able to come to-day as I promised, as this morning an urgent message came for me to go to Exeter to meet a man on business, and it will be very late before I can get back. I would not have gone had it been in any way possible to refuse. You know that, don't you? If nothing intervenes, we will go to Langton tomorrow. Till then, remember that I love you."

for you," I said. "We shall get married—and you'll have to free Mr. Anderson of the mortgage."

"I have already told you that I will do that as a wedding present to you both, and I am a man of my word."

"I think you're a dear," I said. He winced, as if I had said something unkind.

"Well, it's all settled, eh? Then I think, Alberry, you're going."

"More's the pity," said Mrs. Alberry tartly.

She stood watching me. "The post's gone, Miss Sally," she said, after a moment.

I answered without looking up. "It doesn't matter. This can go to-morrow. I sat my breakfast for excitement at the prospect of spending a long day with him with no sharp disapproving eyes to watch us."

It wasn't a very nice morning, the sky was heavy, and it looked as if it might pour with rain any minute, but I did not mind such a small thing as weather, when I was so perfectly happy.

We were half-way through breakfast when there was a knock at the outer door.

WOULD USE GAS AS WAR WEAPON

U. S. Would Not Abandon It If War Should Come, Says Sims

Albany, N. Y., June 13.—"You can bet your life if we have another war and we're attacked we'll use gas," said Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, of the United States navy, last night at the annual dinner of the Albany Medical College Alumni Association. "If we are attacked we will use gas," he continued, "and we won't care how, when or why."

Gas, he declared, was not the inhuman method of warfare that it generally was believed to be. The general impression that the use of gas was so inhuman he said, was caused by Allied propaganda because the Germans were using it.

Admiral Sims's defence of gas as a war arm came after a review of the activities of the American navy during the world war in which he urged continued use of the submarine as the most powerful type of sea craft in existence. He also emphasized the importance of the aeroplane in naval warfare.

lation existing at the time the Federal Act came into force or subsequently enacted."

"Anglin J. p. 530, says: 'The Dominion Lord's Day Act excepts from the operation of its prohibitive clauses everything which is, by Provincial Legislation, past or future, declared to be lawful. While reserving to or conferring upon Provincial Legislatures the power to make exceptions from the operation of the Dominion Statute, and thus in effect to amend it, and to recognize and maintaining in force, if not validating Provincial Legislation already passed, declaring certain days to be lawful on Sunday (provision made no doubt, to enable local bodies to deal with the peculiar requirements of localities with which they would be more familiar and perhaps more in sympathy); there is not a word in the Federal Statute confirming or authorizing anything in the nature of Provincial prohibitive legislation past or future.'

A Local Code.

"The Provincial Act known as the 'Shops Regulation Act,' with its amending Acts in effect a Code providing for Municipal regulations as to closing shops and governing employers in certain shops and the employment of young persons there in."

"By this Act it is provided that: 'Any Municipal Council, by By-law, requiring that during the whole or part or parts of the year all or any class or classes of shops within the Municipality shall be closed and remain closed on each and any day of the week at and continuously after or for the time and hour fixed or appointed in that behalf by the By-law on any statutory legal holiday, for the whole or any part of such day.'

The term "holiday," of course, includes Sunday.

The Exemptions.

"By the interpretation clause of this Act, 'shop' means any building or portion of a building, booth, stall or place where goods are exposed or offered for sale by retail, or where the business of a barber or hairdresser is carried on, and where the only trade or business carried on is that of a tobacconist, newsagent, hotel, inn, tavern, victualling-house or refreshment house, nor auction rooms, pawnbrokers' shops, nor shops in which second-hand goods or wares are bought, sold or offered for sale, nor premises where a barber or hairdresser is attending a customer in a customer's residence."

"It may be assumed that the Provincial Legislature in limiting the hours during which the municipality may require certain shops to close on the holiday and by excluding, as above provided, certain shops from the operation of this Act, was moved by the consideration of the peculiar requirements and varying conditions prevailing in the different municipalities of the Province."

"After careful consideration of the argument of counsel and of the municipalities cited, and in view of the provincial statute and the exception in the Lord's Day Act in favor of provincial laws, I am compelled to the opinion that the Lord's Day Act, in so far as it applies to shops and the transaction of business of ordinary calling therein is by implication repealed."

"Therefore charges will, therefore, be dismissed."

NEW EMPRESS WILL LEAVE GREENOCK ON FRIDAY FOR COAST

SS. Empress of Australia Expected Here July 10 via the Panama Canal

The Empress of Australia will sail from Greenock, Scotland, on her maiden trip to Victoria and Vancouver via the Panama Canal on Friday, June 16, according to cable advices received by the Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd.

The big liner, which is following the Empress of Canada to this coast, is scheduled to arrive here about July 10, and will leave on her first regular voyage to the Orient on July 27. The arrival of the Empress of Canada here from the Orient is scheduled for June 23.

The Empress of Australia is a new ship, having been in the builders' hands at the outbreak of the war. She has just been converted into an oil burner, and is similar in design and standard to the Empress of Scotland. A twin-screw steamship of 21,400 gross tons, 590 feet in length, 33-2 in breadth and 41.5 in depth, the Empress of Australia, with the Empress of Canada, 22,500 tons, will prove notable additions to the company's Pacific fleet, which already maintains the quickest time across the Pacific with the well-known 16,800-ton liner Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia.

The new Empress of Canada and Empress of Australia will inaugurate the important trans-Pacific route to the Orient and to Europe via the Panama Canal. They are now in regular service between Hamburg and Quebec, with Cherbourg and Southampton and intermediate ports of call. The fastest and finest steamships and the finest service the world has to offer, the Canadian Pacific will make this service the most important and most complete of its kind in the world.

A through passenger rate from the East to Europe via the trans-Pacific route has been established. This became effective on April 1, thus putting the Canadian Pacific lines on a parity with the Suez Canal route for this class of passenger traffic, it is announced by the Canadian Pacific.

The equalization of rates will undoubtedly attract travel to this route to an appreciable extent. Further time can be made via Canada than by way of the Suez route.

Last Summer the Canadian Pacific completed very successfully with the Red Sea route. Many hundreds of Anglo-Indians, returning from holidays in Britain, especially when accompanied by their wives and children, preferred the overland route through the temperate zone of Canada to the Pacific and then to Japan, China and India. This route is becoming more popular than the time-honored route "East of Suez" and across the Indian Ocean, where the tropical heat is the great drawback.

MEN ROWED ASHORE FROM CRAFT TEXAS TO CALL ASSISTANCE

Seattle, June 13.—Two members of the Texas crew rowed ashore from the disabled ship, arriving at Nootka Sound on Vancouver Island, late Saturday. Later they were picked up by the schooner Aurora, which carried them to the Estevan wireless station a few miles south where they sent the distress call by the Snohomish.

The Texas was bound from Seattle to Heceta Strait, Alaska. The vessel's last shaft broke Friday off Kyuquot Point, and she was unable to make headway up the Vancouver Island coast.

Bellingham, Wash., June 13.—After lying at the Bledford-Donovan Lumber Mill docks for several weeks, the four-masted schooner Mary G. Foster cleared last evening for Honolulu with a cargo of lumber, 1,000 tons, Capt. S. G. Grounwald in charge.

The steamer Lurline, of the Matson Line, is taking a part lumber cargo at the same mill.

The steamer Admiral Schley docked here from Seattle on Friday, and discharged mixed freight, taking milk and salmon before departing for Seattle.

Fine Coast Liner Alexander, Queen of Admiral Service

Victoria Will Be Port of Call Giving Direct Service of Thirty-Five Hours Between Seattle and San Francisco; Ship Has Speed of 23 Knots and Palatial Passenger Accommodations.

With the arrival on the coast of the Admiral liner H. F. Alexander, fastest and most distinguished vessel in the American merchant marine, a new epoch is marked in coastwise steamship service, linking up Victoria with San Francisco and California points from Seattle.

The H. F. Alexander is 525 feet long, has a beam of 63 feet, is 50 feet deep and has five decks, four of which are devoted to elaborate passenger accommodations.

She has triple screws driven by Parsons turbines and has a cruising speed of 23 knots although during her war service she frequently attained much greater speed. She has accommodations for 655 passengers in all classes which together with the crew of over 200 required in her operation brings the number of persons up close to 1,000.

Refit Cost Half Million.
The Admiral Line spent $500,000 in refitting and conditioning the H. F. Alexander, the work being done by the Shipbuilding Corporation at Chester, Penn., and in many respects she is now superior even to what she was before leaving the coast. Particularly is this true of the staterooms and saloons which have been re-equipped and decorated with a lavish hand. The passenger accommodations occupy four decks.

On "A" deck are situated the observation parlor, music room and lounge, smoking room, foyer and newsmen, and palm garden veranda. The entire forward end of this deck is encased in a glass enclosure for promenading, the dimensions of which are 95 by 125 feet. Opening inboard between the lounge and the smoking rooms are a series of fifteen bachelors' rooms with connecting handsoaps are to the new dining saloon, writing room, lobby and passenger accommodations which include thirteen suites of luxury. "C" deck, with the exception of a roomy lobby forward, facing on which are the purser's office and telephone exchange, is devoted to staterooms and the usual offices. Passengers board the vessel on this deck through a port entrance, stepping into the lobby and being assigned to their staterooms in much the same manner as entering a hotel. The magnificent colonial dining room and the pantries, galley, etc., are located on "D" deck. The public saloons are all finished and furnished most elaborately, yet with much innate refinement that a perfect combination of the utilitarian and the artistic has been achieved. The observation room is finished in a French light grey with clouded ceiling effect. The murel carpet and handsome satin draperies are to match. It is a spacious room with large bay windows so that a clean sweep of the view on each side of the ship and forward is obtained. The chairs, divans and lounges are upholstered in tapestry to blend with the general color scheme.

Music Room.
What is probably the most delightful room on any Pacific liner is the music room and social hall in which the Admiral Line welcomes the presence of its lady passengers. Painted in charming old rose, paneled and enriched with fine moldings and with furniture in old ivory, this truly inviting room will be a boon to the fair voyager. The writing room is beautifully finished and completely equipped. The carpet is of dark blue with small figures and the draperies are of the same tint, the whole producing a quiet and restful effect. The smoking room is finished in fumé oak, the massive chairs being overfurnished and covered with heavy Spanish leather. Abutting on the smoking room is the palm garden veranda which looks aft, the view being unobstructed. Here are small wicker tables and tapestry covered seated chairs.

The dining saloon, one of the largest and most attractive afloat, is in the old colonial style, with small party tables seating from two to ten people. This embraces the entire width of the vessel, as does the pantry and galley immediately aft of it, and carries out the general air of roominess which characterizes every part of the liner and emphasizes the impression that one is in a large modern hotel rather than aboard ship.

Glass Enclosed Deck.
The promenade deck is glass enclosed, the windows being raised or lowered at the pleasure of the passengers. The glass-enclosed promenade takes in almost the entire length of the vessel, affording passengers unusually commodious space in which to promenade or recline in deck chairs and enjoy the bracing breeze.

The dancing saloon, which is in the mind to the hotel ballroom. It is beautifully finished and has a splendid hardwood dance floor. The saloons are all finished and furnished most elaborately, yet with much innate refinement that a perfect combination of the utilitarian and the artistic has been achieved. The observation room is finished in a French light grey with clouded ceiling effect. The murel carpet and handsome satin draperies are to match. It is a spacious room with large bay windows so that a clean sweep of the view on each side of the ship and forward is obtained. The chairs, divans and lounges are upholstered in tapestry to blend with the general color scheme.

Radio Telephone.
Among the distinctive features of the new Admiral liner are the telephone service, every room being connected by telephone with the ship's own "central" and the radio telephone sets by means of which passengers may enjoy the world's news and concert broadcasts without leaving

EGYPTIANS BUY VESSELS BUILT ON THIS COAST

Motorships Jean Steedman, Jessie Norcross and Geraldine Wolvin Sold

Three wooden motorships, the Jean Steedman, Jessie Norcross and Geraldine Wolvin, have been sold to Egyptian interests and have been removed from the Canadian register. These are three of twelve wooden, auxiliary-powered ships, of the bald-headed schooner type, built for the Canada West Coast Navigation Company at Victoria and North Vancouver in 1916 and 1917. These ships were the first of their type to be built in Canada.

Built Here.
The Jean Steedman was one of six such vessels built at Point Ellice by the Cameron Genoa Mills Shipbuilding, Ltd., while the Wallace Company, of North Vancouver, turned out the balance of the fleet.

Other vessels of this type built here were the Margaret Haney, Laurel Whalen and Malahat. The Margaret Haney was operating on the Tigris River during the Mesopotamian campaign, and was sold while in near-Eastern waters. The Laurel Whalen had a disastrous voyage to Australia, and was finally purchased by the B. C. Cement Company and converted into a depot ship to be stationed at the Todd Inlet plant. The Malahat kept going, but was recently reported ashore in the Southern Pacific.

Vessel Dimensions.
The particulars of the three vessels just sold to Egyptian parties are as follows: Jean Steedman, built at Victoria in 1917-length 245.7 ft., beam 45.8 ft., depth 21 ft., tonnage 1,577 gross, 1,253 net, screw driven by engine of 18 horsepower; Geraldine Wolvin, built at North Vancouver in 1917-length 240 ft., beam 43.9 ft., depth 18 ft., tonnage 1,472 gross, 1,253 net, screw driven by engine of 36 horsepower; Jessie Norcross, built at North Vancouver, in 1917, length 240.5 ft., beam 45.8 ft., depth 19.3 ft., tonnage 1,481 gross, 1,258 net, screw driven by engine of 36 horsepower.

After the close of hostilities as acquired by the U. S. Navy Department and was commissioned flagship of the Atlantic fleet, this being the first time that a civilian vessel was engaged in this capacity in the history of the American navy. She was purchased by the Admiral Line for an extra fast, extra fine coastwise service between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Victoria, B. C. and Puget Sound. She will enter this new service early in July after completing one round voyage to the Hawaiian Islands with a party of 120, and returning to Seattle on June 16 and returning on July 1.

Tells of Old Nanaimo.—The Nanaimo Herald has commenced the publication of a series of articles by Mark Bate, former Mayor of Nanaimo, on the early days of the upland city. The first article published on Sunday tells of the founding of Nanaimo, and is illustrated with a picture showing the city as it looked in 1858—rough group of log houses clinging to a hillside.

Police Are Busy.—No less than forty-six summons have been issued by Chief Brogan of the Saanich police, to be made returnable tomorrow and some on the following Monday, for offences mainly against the Motor Act. Of these countless cases are for speeding, resulting from traffic officers' activity on the East Saanich Road. Several cases of assault are also listed. The first of the trials will open in the Saanich Police Court at 2.30 p. m. to-morrow.

Boy Scouts Auxiliary.—There will be a special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Victoria Boy Scouts' Association on Thursday to discuss arrangements for the forthcoming garden party to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sutherland on July 5. All ladies interested in the Boy Scout movement are asked to attend. The meeting will be in the secretary's office, 324 Pemberton Building, at 5.30 p. m.

Western Star Lodge.—Western Star Lodge No. 7, A. O. U. W., entertained Victoria No. 1 and Vancouver No. 5, A. O. U. W. lodges, at Temple's Hall on Monday, June 12. A sketch, a number of songs and community singing were on the programme, and the visiting members enjoyed themselves immensely. Sisters H. Brindley and C. Clunk arranged supper. Tickets for the A. O. U. W. excursion to Bell-ingham on July 5 will be on sale by the end of week. Hunt's orchestra will furnish the music.

At a meeting of the provincial council of the Boy Scout Movement, held here yesterday with General Victor W. Odium in the chair, awards were made for gallantry, all going to scouts of Vancouver district.

Assistant Scout Master Allen Woodman, 6th Troop, Vancouver, and Troop Leader Hamish Davidson, 5th Troop, Vancouver, received the highest award that the Scout movement offers for saving life at personal risk, being given the bronze cross. While skating on thin ice at Coal Harbor the boys saved Bruce McIntyre who had fallen through the ice on February 22. A crowd of 200 watched the scene, but the scouts got into action before any other move was made.

Roland Stacey, a scout of the First Sea Scout Troop in B. C., Vancouver, and now an able seaman on the S.S. Canadian Highlander, was awarded the gilt cross, for nursing a small-pox patient under difficult circumstances at sea. The First Sea Scout Troop at Vancouver, consisting of a half to an automobile, where Dr. W. F. Mackay, whom they had summoned, attended. This award was supported by a tribute from Dr. Mackay, the most glowing terms, pointing out that the life of the man in question would inevitably have been forfeited had it not been for the actions of the troop.

CITY TO EXPLOIT BEAUTIFUL STREETS

Make Plans for Featuring Fine Avenues in Tourist Trade

Plans for exploiting Victoria's most beautiful streets and roads were put into effect by Acting Mayor John Harvey to-day. Alderman Harvey has compiled a list of thoroughfares which, at this time of year, are veritable avenues of bloom of different sorts and which are the delight of visitors to the city. This list will be distributed to hotels and to companies operating sight-seeing cars and to tourists individually to guide visitors to Victoria's finest beauty spots.

"This list will serve as a general guide through the city as far as beautiful streets are concerned," Alderman Harvey said to-day. "I hope that sight-seeing companies will draw up their itineraries in order to take in all these streets which undoubtedly will prove as attractive to the tourist as anything we have in the city. After a drive about these streets visitors will go home with a delightful impression of Victoria in this part of the world."

Alderman Harvey's list, which was compiled after careful inspection of city streets, follows:

Cornwall Street, from Richardson Street to Fairfield Road, which is now an avenue of purple plum blossoms.

Richardson Street, from Cook Street to Moss Street, which is lined with Acacia and California privet.

Burdett Avenue, from Vancouver Street to Linden Avenue, bordered by purple plum and laburnum trees.

Medina Street, from Simcoe Street to Niagara Street, decorated by double thorn.

Oxford Street, from Cook Street to Moss Street, where there is a fine border of linden and lime trees.

May Street, from Cook to Moss Street, where there is a fine display of thorns.

Quadra Street, from Hillside Avenue to Tolmie Avenue, a stretch made beautiful by the fine border of elms.

Linden Avenue, from Richardson Street to Fairfield Avenue, bordered by a line of laurel.

Gladstone Avenue, from Stanley Avenue to the end of the street.

Joan Crescent, from Rockland Avenue to Port Street, bordered by Portugal laurel.

Stanley Avenue, from Port Street to Begbie, a street shaded by stately English oaks.

TO LEAVE WEDNESDAY FOR MOOSE MEETING

Victoria and Island Lodges to Seek Next Convention

To endeavor to bring the Pacific Northwest Moose Convention to Victoria in 1923, a delegation from the Island Moose lodges will leave on the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer to-morrow for Seattle and late in the evening will proceed to Walla Walla. There the annual three-day meeting will be held, with delegates from Washington, Oregon, and Idaho attending, as well as the British Columbia party.

On Thursday morning the Island delegates will meet incoming trains, and "boost" for Victoria as the next convention city.

Delegates from Victoria are C. E. Copeland, director; A. Knowles, vice-director; D. S. Tait, trustee, and J. P. Pearce, secretary, and in addition unofficial delegates going from Victoria will be J. P. Bruce, W. A. Hurd, J. P. Parmall, W. A. Taylor, G. E. Verner and W. B. Wilson.

Lady Smith delegates have already left. J. Quinn will represent the Cumberland lodge.

W. Fulton and J. Kirkbride are delegates of the Nanaimo lodge.

FINE ADDRESS ON OLYMPIC FOREST

F. L. Fromme, U. S. Forest Supervisor, Speaks Here

Facing the Sierras of Juan de Fuca the Olympic Mountains offer an appeal to Victorians, yet with the exception of the immediate vicinity of Port Angeles, few Islanders are aware of the beauties of the district.

To give an opportunity to hear about this wonderful country of the Olympic peninsula from F. L. Fromme, United States Forest Supervisor for the Olympic National Forest, the Natural History Society arranged a meeting, which was held last evening at the Girls' Central School.

Mr. Fromme brought a magnificent series of pictures to illustrate his remarks, most of the slides being made from his own photographs. A very fine series of slides, descriptive of the timber, game, the recreational opportunities, and methods of accessibility to the most picturesque localities was shown on the screen. He was able to point out that the glacier action appeared at a lower altitude than in the Cascades and that from a mountaineering standpoint the Olympics possess fine attractions.

VICTORIA IS GREAT CONVENTION CITY

Has Every Attraction for Visitors in Summer

Has Become Mecca for Pacific Northwest

Victoria is a delightfully attractive city for the holding of conventions, and this fact has been more than appreciated in recent years. Many American organizations which have no immediate association with British Columbia have held gatherings here, while the number of publicity and fraternal organizations, as well as service clubs which meet

FACTS CONCERNING THE MOOSE ORDER

The Loyal Order of Moose was founded in 1888. Up to 1906 the membership was only 246. Jas. J. Davis became its 247th member, and membership has increased under his guidance to about 600,000. The total membership in Canada at close of July quarter this year was 8,195, which will be increased approximately to 10,000 shortly.

The Loyal Order of Moose gained in membership during 1920, 15,410, and in assets $7,000,000. The net worth of the Order on January 31 of this year was $22,856,281.11.

There is steadily increasing. Two national conventions are being held in Victoria this year, drawing delegates from the nine provinces of Canada, while several provincial bodies will hold their sessions here during the summer.

The equable climate, which has resulted in the location of the second largest telescope in an observatory on the outskirts of the city, has been the admiration and surprise of visitors from all parts of the world.

The city holds the sunshine record for Western Canada, and the sea breezes from the Pacific moderate any excessive heat.

A Fine City.

As a residential city Victoria has no equal on the Pacific Coast. Its homes are beautiful and tastefully laid out grounds surround them, boulevard strips being used extensively. Sport of all kinds is available at all periods of the year.

The hotel system is excellent, as in addition to the downtown hotels, the chief of which is situated in a park of seven acres, there are four hotels at beach resorts in the vicinity, of the highest class, which cater to the tourist and prospective resident. Always popular as a tourist resort, Vancouver Island finds the number of its visitors yearly increasing. The city, combined with a number of municipalities, maintains an information and publicity bureau in Victoria known as the Victoria and Island Development Association, which is always ready to supply information to the tourist and prospective resident.

The famous private gardens at Benvenuto, 12 miles north, cover twenty acres and feature rose gardens, Japanese gardens, sunken gardens, lakes, streams, waterfalls and other attractions, and, although they are privately owned, through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, they are open to visitors.

The city is supplied with six theatres, several cabarets and other places of amusement.

Parliament Square.

The Provincial Parliament Buildings overlooking the Inner Harbor, on spacious grounds, are a magnificent pile admired by thousands of visitors annually. In addition to the legislative offices and department administration offices the group includes a library, natural history museum, portrait gallery, mineral museum, and printing for Government publications.

The area of city parks is as follows: Agricultural grounds, 60.33 acres; Beacon Hill, 154.57 acres; Gorge Park, 11.9 acres; Mount Douglas, 256.9 acres; North Ward, 8.0 acres; Quadra (Old Cemetery), 2.12 acres; Strathcona, 4.3 acres; Victoria West (Sanghew), 6.9 acres.

Saanich, a neighboring municipality, has an extensive park system, which is managed by a joint committee of Victoria City and District Councils, and through which extensive improvements to the bathing beaches of the peninsula have been carried out. Oak Bay, a residential suburb, now also has its own parks.

In Saanich is the famed Mount Douglas Park, 256 acres in extent, which is held in trust by the city of Victoria. Its panoramic view from the summit is unrivalled in the vicinity.

At Brentwood is a magnificent country hotel, one of the finest near Victoria from which it is distant by automobile road about 12½ miles. The other beach hotel is located at Cadboro Bay, a popular resort on the outskirts of Victoria, and which is reached through the splendid residential subdivision of the Uplands.

The population of Victoria and district is about 55,000 people, the total population of Vancouver Island being about 120,000.

From the city north and west run fine roads, that on the Island Highway, 179 miles to Campbell River, with a branch from Parksville to the West Coast at Port Alberni, including the wonderful Malahat scenic drive over the mountain between the Victoria plateau and the lowlands of the central portion of the Island.

On the Saanich peninsula, upon which Victoria is situated, are fine paved highways, giving access to the Observatory, Brentwood, the Bagan Bay experimental farm, and the wonderful soft fruit growing districts of the peninsula, whence fruit is shipped all over the northwest.

The city is situated 82 miles from Seattle, and 81 from Vancouver, and is connected also by two motor ferry services, from Port Angeles in the South, and Anacortes, on the Pacific Highway, on the East.

Every encouragement is given to the tourist, by rail, car, or on foot, throughout the island.

The Loyal Order of Moose is an international fraternal society consisting of more than sixteen hundred lodges in the United States, Canada and throughout the English-speaking world, having an aggregate membership in all these lodges of more than six hundred thousand men. Most of the lodges provide for sick benefits and funeral expense funds for their members. Each lodge is a complete unit in itself, with full local autonomy.

at the Theatre

Director Paul Powell: "Did you bring along your tears this morning, Miss Murphy? You have a crying scene."

Edna Murphy: "I'm not in the frame of mind for crying; I feel all full of joy and pep! What are we going to do about it?"

Mr. Powell: "Wonderful! Have you made out your income tax return, Miss Murphy?"

And soon Miss Murphy was ready to weep. She is seen prominently in support of the star in "The Ordeal." Conrad Nagel plays opposite Miss Ayres.

CAPITOL

Dominic Fitzgerald, an impetuous Irish gentleman, marries his daughter, Theodora to Josiah Brown, a former tradesman, who had waxed rich in his middle age, thereby replenishing the exhausted family fortunes.

The Browns tour all over Europe or a protracted honeymoon. During a climb of the Alps, Theodora slips over a cliff and is hanging suspended by a weakened rope which is on the verge of breaking when she is rescued by young Lord Bracondale, at the risk of his own life.

Bracondale, is the same young man who had rescued her from death when, as a child, she had been overtaken in a small boat. Bracondale becomes infatuated with Theodora and when the Brown party leaves for Paris, accompanied by a Mrs. McBride, he follows.

In Paris, Brown is ill a great part of the time, and Bracondale and Theodora are together a great deal in the company of Mrs. McBride and Fitzgerald, with which latter couple a romance is also in progress. In the gardens at Versailles, Bracondale confesses his love to Theodora and she confesses an equally ardent affection for him. After an impulsive kiss, they agree that they must part for good.

Brown receives a letter regarding his new estate in London and takes Theodora home. Bracondale returns to England and is happily received by his mother, who is planning his engagement to Morella Winnarleigh, his fiancée. Bracondale then confesses his love to his sister, Anne Anningford, who calls on Theodora and invites the Browns to the Harrowfield dance.

At the dance, Bracondale is unable to get an interview with Theodora. The Browns are also invited to Lady Fitzgerald's function and Theodora is selected for a principal part in the playlet which is to be a feature of the social event. Lord Wensleydon, a young adventurer, whom Bracondale eyes jealously, is selected for the other leading role.

At Beechleigh Hall, Brown receives another letter from his agent to return to London at once regarding his new estate at Blessington. He leaves the day before the playlet. Desperate at an interview with Theodora, Bracondale locks Wensleydon in his closet, dons his costume, plays his role in the sketch and at the finish, allows the horses which bear him and Theodora away, to run away over the meadows. Outstanding pursuers, he stops the horses, declares his love for Theodora and she promises to write him but says they must never meet again.

That night she writes two letters, one to Bracondale bidding him goodbye forever, and the other to Brown, telling him she is coming home.

Morella Winnarleigh, jealous of Bracondale, sees the letters in the hall, opens them and switches them. Brown gets the note to Bracondale and is sorely stricken by its revelations. Bracondale, with Brown's note, calls upon the latter, hoping he has not yet opened the letter intended for him.

As a result of the interview Brown decides upon a dangerous journey to Arabia which is likely to result in his death, and thus sacrifice himself for Theodora's happiness. Bracondale and Theodora follow him to Arabia where Brown and an explorer are excavating. They find a vase and are charged by a savage tribe. Brown is shot down just as Bracondale and Theodora appear with an escort of troops. There is a battle and the shadings of the overpass. They find Brown dying near some crumbling ruins and before he expires, Brown places Theodora's hand in Bracondale's, and wishes them every happiness in life. The two walk away hand in hand as the scene fades.

COLUMBIA

Harry Myers, popular leading man who scored such a tremendous triumph in a "Connecticut Yankee," appears opposite Doris May in "Boy Crazy," her latest R-C production to be screened at the Columbia Theatre again to-day, in a role which is as ideally suited to his personality as that of his former success.

The career of Harry Myers has extended over a long period of both stage and screen experience although he still in his early thirties. Born in New Haven, Conn., the nephew of Madame Rhea, famous opera singer, Myers early showed a liking for the stage. At eighteen, after a more or less desultory schooling, he joined a stock company at the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia. After two seasons of "bits," intermingled with theatre behind the scenes as prop-boy, grip and what-not, he emerged as a juvenile leading man and became a member of the Forepaugh Stock Company in Philadelphia, where he also remained two years.

Then followed several seasons on road in repertoire with well known stars, during which time he played "Graustark" and created somewhat of a stir by his interpretation of the light comedy role of "Harry Grengish."

ROYAL VICTORIA

A big double bill is being presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre this week when Peter R. Kyne's great story from the Saturday Evening Post entitled "The Ten Dollar Raise" will be shown, the other being a new side-splitting comedy featuring Buster Keaton in "Cops." This double bill of the best bills that have been shown at this theatre for some time, and should be the medium of attracting good audiences at all performances.

Between the ceaselessly grinding millstones of organized labor and organized capital is constantly being ground the unorganized bourgeoisie of the great middle class, the backbone of the nation, an unorganized conglomeration of little millionaires, being suffering—and paying for the victories of capital over labor. The chances are five to one that you belong to this class. If not you are sure to fit in as one of the characters appearing in J. L. Frothingham's initial film produced for Associated Producers and shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre, "The Ten Dollar Raise" is a striking human interest drama of everyday life and you will see yourself among the all-star-cast of players.

There is one distinction that Buster Keaton, star of "Cops," can claim for himself.

He's not the first man to make a New Year's resolution, but he's the first to break one—at least in nineteen twenty-two.

What was it?

Buster made a New Year's resolution to the effect that in 1922 he would be the boss in his home and that there would be no more gowns for Natalie Talmadge Keaton unless he was consulted and had approved the purchase.

So on New Year's day he was informed by his better half that she was about to use a considerable portion of the family exchequer in the purchasing of a new gown.

"Nothing doing," said Buster. "You have too many gowns now. I'm the boss and I say no! That is the one resolution that is going to remain in, vogue throughout the year."

But on Tuesday Natalie was around the Keaton home with a new gown, so evidently Buster isn't any different than any other husband. Resolutions are valueless, especially where a woman is concerned.

It's important to buy to best advantage. You can do that if you are a constant ad-student.

SCENE FROM "THE ADVENTURES OF ROBINSON CRUSOE" A UNIVERSAL SERIAL STARRING HARRY MYERS

NOTABLE PAIR APPEAR IN "JANE"

Fine Performance in Little Theatre; Good Roads Party Attend

Last evening at the Little Theatre, Oak Bay, saw the opening night of the delightfully humorous farce "Jane," presented by the Victoria Amateur Dramatic Society.

A Notable Pair.

In the excellent cast were included the names of Eva Hart and Reginald N. Hincks. It cannot be denied that in all ventures where these two appear either in music or drama, a standard of things is always established, in whatever they undertake to do their parts are studied and so interpreted that never fail to give the utmost satisfaction, a fact demonstrated by the success of their previous work. In "Jane," they were supported given them on all occasions by concert and theatre going people alike. So it was last evening. The portrayals of their characters, Eva as "Jane," and Reginald as "William Tipton," were delightful examples of histrionic art. One cannot soon forget Jane in the first scene when with her master "Charley Shackleton," a well-played part by Major Pridemore, she says, "This is business, business," and Tipton's advice to the generous Mr. Ker-shaw (Stewart G. Clark), "You better have a little something." These and other such like bits of humor throughout were irresistible, and never failed to provoke the highest merriment.

Mrs. Herbert Kent, as Mrs. Chadwick, the aunt, was splendid, and in her many amusing contraptions in order to see Charley Shackleton through in his financial difficulties, she evinced much dramatic ability, and caused sheer delight.

Miss Peggy Hodgins, although not having much to do spoke her lines well and looked a charming "Loosey." Master L. Fox as "Claude," in love with Jane, for one so young was quite good, and the other parts receiving very able attention were Mrs. Horace Hamlet, as "Mrs. Pixon," and John McCallum, as "Mr. Pixon."

Good Roads Party Attend.

The evening marked the occasion of the attendance by two hundred members of the visiting Good Roads Convention by invitation of the Society, and there was no mistake in their keen delight. Much enthusiasm prevailed and the good roads choir, led by Robert R. Webb, and their own active leader, before and during the three scenes, gave some college and well-known songs, with appropriate, original and good-humored verses, in vigorous and lusty style.

Mrs. Clifford Wain accompanied the chorus singing, and contributed also some well selected piano selections during the scenes.

So enjoyable, artistic, amusing and well done is "Jane" that during the week, there will be a performance each evening commencing at 8.30, it cannot but attract large attendances and prove another success for the Society, under such able management as that of Reginald Hincks.

COLUMBIA BEING RENOVATED

Alterations and redecorations under the new management which has just taken over the Columbia Theatre are now in progress. A new ventilating system has just been installed, which will assure fresh air at all times. Decorators and painters are now busy putting everything in shape.

SING OPERA IN HILLS

Hollywood, June 13.—Ready to start staging the first great, outdoor operatic spectacle since "Aida" was given at the base of the pyramids 30 years ago, Alexander Bevan, noted operatic impresario, is in Hollywood.

Blizet's opera "Carmen" will be sung under the stars one July night only in the natural "bowl" in the Hollywood hills.

Sylvia as Carmen.

The cast will be drawn from famous opera houses.

Marguerite Sylvia, considered by some of the greatest Carmen on the modern operatic stage, will sing the title role.

The one-night performance of "Carmen" will be under direction of Bevan and Harry H. Hall, with Walter E. Shosted, Hollywood business manager.

To Draw Pilgrims.

The event, expected to bring artistic pilgrims to California from many parts of the world, is held under auspices of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and the community art and park association.

The Hollywood bowl will accommodate 35,000 auditors with reserved seats, while 65,000 more can be seated on the hillside of the natural amphitheatre.

Lavish and spectacular production will characterize the opera, which will have a chorus of 250 singers, supervised by Emanuel Sanchez de Lara, and a ballet of 100 dancers under the direction of Ernest Belcher.

Madge Bellamy, one of the most popular photoplays who has just completed an engagement in the leading role in Thomas H. Ince's production, "Some One to Love," has been selected to play opposite Jack Pickford, in his first United Artists picture, "Garrison's Finish," now in production. Miss Bellamy will start the middle of June, when Mr. Pickford returns to Hollywood from New York, where he has been taking scenes of the Metropolitan Handicap which will serve to give his racing story realistic backgrounds. Arthur Rosson is directing Jack and Elmer Harris is supervising the production. "Garrison's Finish" will mark the formal return of Jack Pickford to the screen as a star. He has been directing for the past two years, during which time he produced over the megaphone in two of the productions of his sister, Mary. These were "Through the Back Door" and "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Taking a plunge in a warm sulphur pool was a daily occurrence with the members of "The Valley of Silent Men," the new Cosmopolitan Production which was filmed in the heart of the Canadian Rockies.

The temperature registered forty below zero, but the boys would slide down the side of Mount Sulphur and plunge in the hot sulphur pool before.

Fifteen thousands barrels of warm water flow in and out of the pool every hour. It has a temperature of ninety-two degrees.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, June 13.—Both the cash and futures wheat markets were dull today, but a steady undertone prevailed. American wheat futures appeared to be somewhat higher, some leading interest looking for a rise in the cash market, but the local opinion that there was good buying going on.

Besides there was considerable talk in the export market of re-selling on the British market. Private Liverpool cables were reported as materially reduced, closing down and at least British cancellation of 100,000 bushels was confirmed.

Some export demand existed for cash wheat, but the offerings were light. Inspections yesterday totaled 511 cars, including 281 cars of contract grades wheat.

DISCUSS BETTER ROAD MAKING

Addresses Deal With Situation in Prairie Provinces

Two interesting papers were read at Canadian Good Roads Convention here yesterday.

Afternoon Session.

While prairie soil is excellent material in itself for good dirt roads in dry season, the problem now is to find some means of keeping the surface qualities of the clay during the wet season and preventing it turning into a mire. This aim is particularly urgent in the prairie provinces in view of the prevalent lack of funds to carry out the construction of more permanent and costly highways, Dr. K. A. Clark, of the Industrial Research Department of the University of Alberta, told the convention at the afternoon session yesterday.

It is with a view to discovering some substance that will serve to combine the surface of the natural road into such a form as to shed the water more freely into the drains provided that Dr. Clark has been experimenting for some time. It has been proved that the "Bituminized Earth Pavement" meets the requirements to a considerable extent, and it is likely that a sand-clay-bitumen road may become the future prairie road type, Dr. Clark said. Nature has not provided the prairie provinces with the material to build the well-known hard surface roads, and it would be too expensive to import the material, he explained. If it is possible to get the asphalt out of the Athabasca deposit of bituminous sand cheaply, Dr. Clark believes it is possible for the prairie provinces to make economical roads that will be serviceable in all weathers.

On Road Drainage.

"The fundamental principle of road maintenance is drainage," said H. R. Mackenzie, Chief, Field Engineer, Province of Saskatchewan, who dealt more particularly with the subject as it affected the Province of Saskatchewan. As Saskatchewan was the central of the prairie provinces he considered his remarks applicable to the whole of the prairie section. He dealt with the question under the head of surface and sub-drainage, and outlined the varying modes of procedure necessary to meet the local requirements. Roads with too high a crown were unsuitable for prairie traffic as far as safe driving and low cost of maintenance were concerned, and the prairie roads were subject to a considerable amount of unavoidable damage during the Spring run-off. Most of the Province of Saskatchewan is sufficiently rolling that continuous drainage can be provided from each summit to the nearest culvert, and everything possible is done to avoid having sloughs or bodies of water lying near the highways.

The prairies have a difficulty in connection with surface drainage which is unknown in other parts of Canada. That is, the almost annual obliteration of road ditches by drifting soil in prairie areas where the soil is heavy. Severe wind storms in March and April cause the clay soils pulverized by intensive cultivation to drift like snow. Culverts of a permanent nature are invariably used on main highway work," Mr. Mackenzie explained.

The speaker said that it was impossible to build hard surface roads in the rural parts of the province, consequently under-drainage was not provided except in certain cases. During the discussion which followed the address, Reeve Haddock, Manitoba, said that the dry well system had worked out very satisfactorily in Manitoba. The system adopted was to dig through the earth and drill through the rock for a considerable distance; if it was possible to strike a subterranean channel, as had been done, the troubles of surface drainage were easily overcome he said.

Committees Appointed.

During the afternoon session Mr. Lafla appointed the following committees: Nominating committee: T. J. Mahoney, Hamilton; A. E. Foreman, Vancouver; S. R. Henderson, Winnipeg; J. A. Duchesne, Montreal; J. L. Haddock, Reeve Haddock, Manitoba; George S. Henry, Todd-mordan, Ontario; H. S. Carpenter, Regina; Patrick Phillips, Victoria; Dr. C. E. Engelson, Kelowna; Vancouver. Resolution committee: Miss Clark, Dennis, Nova Scotia; A. M. Rankin, Ontario; George Webster, Alberta; H. Ross Mackenzie, Saskatchewan; Reeve Haddock, Manitoba; S. F. McNamee, Quebec, and F. S. Easterbrook, New Brunswick.

During the afternoon the ladies in the party were taken for a drive around the city in sight-seeing cars and following the adjournment the men were also treated to a drive, while the evening the visitors were the guests of the Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society at the Little Theatre.

PROSPECTIVE CHANGES IN SAANICH SCHOOLS

Resignations Create Vacancies; Much Talent Seeking Posts

The Saanich School Board last night accepted with regret the resignations of Miss Olga Shields, principal of the West Saanich School; Miss L. Woodward and Miss P. Jennings, of Cloverdale; Miss E. Patrick, of Tillamook, and Miss Sparling, principal of Prospect.

Miss C. E. Williams, of Strawberryvale, asked transfer or acceptance of resignation, and will be offered an urban class, probably at Craigflower.

Miss Victoria Lemmex, of Strawberryvale, will be given the principalship of the reconstructed Old Tolmie School when it re-opens as a three-roomed entrance school.

Sixteen teachers have already applied for positions in Saanich, two being men and the Board decided to interview candidates at Tolmie School, at 2 o'clock, on July 14. It is expected that more than forty applications will be received.

T. L. McALLISTER DIES

Was Long Time Associated With Island Collieries.

For fourteen years the late Thomas Lawrence McAllister, of Milner, who died last week, was identified with the Dunsmuir mines, both on Vancouver Island and at the Noble Five mine at Sandon, of which he was superintendent for four years. In this service he became regarded by the late Hon. James Dunsmuir as a trusted employee.

A native of Ayrshire, Scotland, Mr. McAllister came to British Columbia round the Horn fifty-six years ago. Most of his time in this Province he was engaged in mining. He mined in the Cariboo and the Kootenays. He served through the South African war, and about eight years ago settled at Milner, where he specialized in Andalusian poultry. He was 74 years of age.

ALL STUDENTS IN SAANICH WRITE FOR PROMOTION

Entry to High School Not Granted on Teachers' Recommendation

All Saanich pupils desiring to enter High School this year will have to write in the June examinations, the Saanich School Board has just decided. The board has decided to refuse entry to High School to pupils who have not written the June examinations, with the expressed desire of the trustees that promotion by recommendation of teachers be abandoned in Saanich.

"Tomfoolery on Trains"
The British Columbia Electric Railway Co. appealed to the board to aid in putting an end to "tomfoolery on interurban trains" by children en route to school, citing cases of serious pranks by boys. Receiving confirmation of these complaints from Saanich Police officials, the trustees decided to notify principals of schools concerned and parents of boys causing risks. The railway company will be thanked for its action.

"The Oldest School"
"Craigflower is the oldest school in British Columbia," remarked Trustee Hall, when the board allowed the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to place an artistic sign at the old Colonial school house for the benefit of tourists.

Recognize Bravery
At the suggestion of the Cloverdale Parent-Teachers' Association the trustees will urge the Royal Humane Society to present awards to Kenneth Scholes and John Ewing for their plucky attempt to save the late Mr. Oxley from drowning at the George recently. The two boys are attending Cloverdale School, and the trustees highly praised the bravery and perseverance shown.

T. W. CORNETT IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

To Head Victoria Teachers' Association This Year

The last general meeting of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association was held in the auditorium of the Girls' Central School, at four o'clock. This was followed by the annual meeting of the association. The chair was taken by Mr. Robert McInnes, president. A large number of members were present, and the business of the day promptly despatched.

Important changes in the constitution were made, and the fiscal year of the association was changed to run concurrently with the year of the B. C. Teachers' Federation, which ends February 28 in each year. The secretary, A. H. Harrison, presented the annual report showing the activities of the teachers of Victoria are not restricted to the classroom. The association was formed for service, friendship and co-operation, and during this past year a programme of meetings was successfully carried out. A very enjoyable dance was held in the gymnasium of the Victoria High School, February 23, 1922, and a dinner—a new function introduced this year—was held in the Dominion Hotel, May 19, at which over 100 teachers were present. Professor Sedgwick, of B. C. University, was the guest of the evening, and gave an address.

On the occasion of the recent visit of 1,000 Seattle teachers to this city, the teaching body had co-operated with the Chamber of Commerce in making plans for entertainment of the guests, it was reported. The Victoria teachers undertook the work of supplying automobiles, cash and refreshments. The Household Science Department, assisted by a number of teachers, provided a delightful tea, which was served to about 200 guests at Victoria College, Craigflower; eighteen young ladies from the student body of Victoria High School, acted as waitresses. The guests expressed themselves as being greatly pleased with the reception given them.

Interesting reports from Household Science, Manual Training and other sections of the teaching staff were read and adopted.

The election of officers for the year resulted in the following appointments: President, T. W. Cornett; First Vice-President, J. D. Smith; Second Vice-President, Miss Louise A. deW. Moore; Secretary, A. H. Harrison; Treasurer, G. H. Bevan-Pritchard; Committee, Miss Martin, Mr. Jeffrey Cunningham.

TO MEET IN OCTOBER

Good Roads League of British Columbia at Kamloops.

In October of this year one of the most enthusiastic conventions of the Good Roads League of British Columbia will be held in Kamloops and many very important resolutions dealing with provincial roads will be presented, chief among them that dealing with the Inter-Provincial Highway. H. Frank Bird, secretary of the League, who is attending the convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association, reports.

POLICE COURT CONVICTION UPHOLD

Angus Caskie and Jerry Sparks, of G.A.U.V., Fail in County Court Appeal

Angus Caskie and Jerry Sparks, former officials of the Grand Army of United Veterans, must serve the six months' imprisonment imposed on them severally in the police court in April last, unless on appeal to a superior court the decision of His Honor Judge Lammiman, given in the County Court yesterday afternoon, be reversed.

The two men took an appeal to the County Court from the jail term imposed in the police court, upon a conviction of selling liquor, under section 26 of the Government Liquor Act.

The appeal was dismissed by His Honor yesterday, the ruling of Magistrate Jay in the police court proceedings being upheld. R. C. Lowe appeared for the appellants, and C. L. Harrison for the Crown.

Following a raid by the police on the G. A. U. V. Club premises on Bastion Square, the accused were charged with selling liquor. Some beer was found on the premises, which was claimed to be the individual property of the several members of the club. Beer was the subject of the charge, the beer purported to have been sold being 3.72 per cent by weight.

Some of the beer was found by the police in lockers, some forty of which had been erected. The members failed with section 26 of the Act, by lodging a ticket with one of the accused, it had been contended by the Crown.

R. C. Lowe yesterday held that under section 46 of the Act, the sale of beer was specifically dealt with, and that it was not the intention of the legislators to have the sale of beer fall within section 26 of the Act, for which a minimum sentence was six months' imprisonment.

C. L. Harrison, for the Crown, held that beer was liquor within the meaning of the Act, and that any liquid over one per cent, could be held to be liquor within the meaning of the Act. His Honor Judge Lammiman ruled that under section 26 of the Government Liquor Act must hold good, and dismissed the appeal.

An appeal from this decision of the County Court may be sought at the present sitting of the Court of Appeal, it was intimated by counsel for the appellants.

PETCH NEW PRESIDENT

McBride Conservatives Want Mental As Well As Physical Tests for Immigrants.

McBride Conservatives at their club meeting last night discussed immigration and decided that a physical test was not enough, but that all persons coming into Canada should be subject to a mental test as well.

Alfred Petch was elected president to succeed George Okell, who has retired.

Other officers elected last night were: Secretary, J. P. Sinnott; assistant secretary, J. K. Angus; treasurer, Henry Callow; executive committee, Mrs. M. Connahey, F. J. Popham, Ivan J. Seabrook, J. P. Sinnott, J. K. Angus and Henry Callow; programme committee, Harry W. Price, Capt. H. W. R. Moore and Canon Hincliffe.

BULGARIANS NOW ASK MORATORIUM

Refuse to Recognize Reparations Commission's Control

Talk of Possibility of Trouble Developing

Sofia, June 12.—The Bulgarian Government's reply to the Reparations Commission on the matter of payment of reparations, while couched in diplomatic and conciliatory language, is a polite refusal to accept Commission control over Bulgarian finances. It requests a three-year moratorium for payment, and after submitting counter-propositions, concludes with a warning that the trouble is likely to ensue if the Commission insists upon its decision.

The reply first attracted attention to the power given to the Commission by the Neuilly Treaty to grant delays in the payment of reparations and a reduction in the amount payable, and to Bulgaria's capacity to pay. Thus the Commission's demand for the exercise of control of Bulgaria's finances, it asserts, is incompatible with the treaty clause and interferes with the country's sovereignty, which is consecrated by the treaty.

DECIDE CURRIE MONUMENT SHOULD BE ERECTED HERE

Meeting Endorses Memorial Project; Urge Scheme on Governments

A monument to General Sir Arthur Currie should be erected in Victoria, the city where the greatest of Canadian war figures resided and received his early training, a meeting of representatives of public organizations last night declared. This meeting, held in the Belmont House, decided to communicate with the Dominion and Provincial Government and local organizations and urge them to co-operate in pressing the memorial scheme.

Brigadier-General R. P. Clark, one of General Currie's leaders and a personal friend of the Canadian commander, was elected chairman at yesterday's meeting. He pointed out that the City Council and a number of public bodies had endorsed the memorial proposal and said that it had been rumored that the Federal Government might erect a memorial as a national work. If this were to be done Victoria was certainly the logical site for the memorial, he declared.

Those present at last night's meeting were: Colonel H. M. Urquhart, M. C. 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment; Messrs. Seymour Rowlinson and C. F. L. Money, representing the Army and Navy Veterans; Brig-Gen. R. P. Clark, the Rotary Club; School Trustees, R. R. Brown and C. F. Woodward; the Kiwanis Club; Alderman R. W. Perry and Joseph Patrick, the City Council; C. N. Maywood and W. P. Pemberton, the Chamber of Commerce; Lieut.-Col. F. A. Robertson, D. S. O., the 5th Regiment; R. R. Sutherland and A. W. R. Wilby, Boy Scouts; J. Forsythe, Provincial Librarian and Archivist; Jack Clay, Gyro Club; A. Rogers and W. Bradley, Grand Army of United Veterans; C. C. Pemberton, Victoria Features Committee; and T. F. Tobbert and J. J. Taylor, Veterans of France.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

ALICE ARM NEWS.

The Midway Group of claims, adjoining the Esperanza, has been bonded by the Alice Arm Mining and Smelting Co. for $25,000 and development work, on which four men will be employed, is to commence at once. The mine was staked by George Pratt in 1912. Five hundred sacks of high grade ore are ready at the Esperanza mine to come down the hill for shipment to the smelter. The working staff has been increased and it is intended to ship ore throughout the year.

New Concentrator.

Work will commence on the Sullivan Concentrator, between Marysville and Kimberley. The Sullivan mine has been working on a big scale for so long, shipping upwards of 10,000 tons of ore per week, that it has come to be looked upon as a matter of course in the East Kootenay, without much thought to the expense and energy which has been expended in bringing it to its present state of development. But the East Kootenay without the Sullivan mine would be a vastly poorer section of the Province than it is now, as anyone who thinks is prepared to admit.

It has been on the programme of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., for some time to put up a concentrator for the Sullivan ore, to obviate the long haul over to Trail, and to relieve the facilities there for further treatment of the ores from the Roseland mines of the company. Depressed conditions in the metal markets and financial conditions, however, have resulted in the project being held up till these things partially righted themselves at least.

The new concentrator will have a capacity of about 1,500 tons, and is expected to cost in the neighborhood of a million and a half dollars. Electric power will be used from Bull River, from a line put in from Cranbrook up to Kimberley, Cranbrook Herald.

FIVE TRAIN BANDITS KILLED IN MEXICO

Nogales, Ariz., June 12.—Five bandits were killed and three are known to have been wounded in an attempt to hold up a combination freight and passenger train of the Southern Pacific de Mexico near Rosare, between Mazatlan, Sonora, and Tepic, Sinaloa, Mexico, late Saturday afternoon, according to a conductor who has arrived here en route to his home in Los Angeles.

Those killed and wounded were members of a band of 25 Mexican bandits who attacked the train, which was carrying a shipment of 23 tons of bullion valued at $23,000, from the Big Bradbury mine of Sinaloa. The other bandits fled without any loot.

INGREDIENTS FOR A COMBINATION SPRAY

What should a good all round spray, effective both in the orchard and garden, contain? The man with an orchard, the woman with her garden, the rosarian, are alike asking the question.

No better answer can be given than giving the formula for Kero-Spray, a spray which, while very inexpensive, has been doing most effective work. This contains in proper proportion Black Leaf Forty, Arsenate of Lead, Kerosene, Whale Oil Soap and emulsifying ingredients. A spray of such composition means sure death to all forms of insect life, especially if applied just after the egg hatches and the larvae feed voraciously. The spray has the additional qualification in that (while it is poisonous) it will not injure the tree, plant, leaf or bloom.

The formula for Kero-Spray was outlined after careful study of the enemies of tree and plant and the spray is attracting wide attention. The manufacturers have placed it within the reach of all. For small gardens a large bottle making 5 gallons of spray costs only 40 cents while for orcharding a 1/2 gallon tin (making 25 gallons) costs $1.25 while a gallon runs at $2.00.

Kero-Spray can be purchased at any Vancouver Drug Co. store, Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

The Tunsilash also brought out 150 women and girls who have come to Canada under the auspices of the Saskatchewan Government for settlement in the Province of Saskatchewan, most of them domestic.
